Mike, JFK Tackle Lake Strife

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (CP) — Efforts to bring President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to a conference table discussion on Great Lakes labor disruption were announced Friday night by Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy.

Labor Minister MacEachen and U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz have been instructed to try to arrange the conference. The aim would be to end harassment of Canadian shipping in U.S. ports by U.S. allies of the rebel Seafarers' International Union of Canada.

The meeting, with date and site to be decided, would involve the two cabinet ministers as well as the labor heads.

DEFENCE PARLEY

The two leaders also gave this information to a press conference, summoned at the end of their first round of two-day talks:

1. U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara and Defence Production Minister Drury will meet shortly to discuss sharing of defence production.

2. Subjects covered at the talks included the prospects of disarmament and the abolition of nuclear tests.

TO ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

3. U.S.-Canadian defence matters will be covered in a communique expected to be issued today.

The two leaders also discussed greater utilization of existing facilities for communications between the two governments — specifically the Canada-U.S. committees on defence and economics plus the permanent joint board on defence. Pearson, who handled the press conference by agreement with the president, said this concept strives to make use of

New Pact On Fish?

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (CP)—Canada, the U.S. and Japan will hold talks in Washington next month to re-examine their north Pacific fisheries treaty.

Japan has indicated she wants the treaty re-opened for examination and Canada and the U.S. have agreed, President Kennedy's office here announced Friday night.

Jodoin Agreeable

CLAUDE JODOIN
. . . willing to attend

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Friday he has agreed to meet with George Meany of the AFL-CIO to discuss the Great Lakes labor dispute.

He said he received a communication from Labor Minister MacEachen asking if he is willing to attend such a conference and he agreed.

He said date and site of the conference has not yet been decided.

Mr. Jodoin, who came here this week to attend a meeting of the central committee of the Red Cross, said it may be necessary for him to cancel planned attendance at a union convention in Los Angeles next week.

He had planned to leave here Sunday.

Negroes Claim Victory In Alabama Peace Pact

* * *

BIRMINGHAM, Ala (AP)—A bi-racial citizens' committee has agreed on proposals to end Birmingham's segregation conflict, but the city council isn't bound to accept it.

Negro integration forces had kept the city virtually under siege since April 3.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader of the desegregation campaign, said the agreement reached Friday provides the following:

1. Desegregation of lunch counters, rest rooms and drinking fountains in planned stages within the next 90 days.

HIRING INCLUDED

2. The upgrading and hiring of Negroes on a non-discriminatory basis. This will include the hiring of Negroes as clerks and salesmen within the next 60 days.

3. Arrangements for the release of all persons arrested during racial demonstrations on bond or on their personal recognizance.

4. Communications between Negroes and white persons will be publicly re-established within the next two weeks.

"We would hope that this channel will prevent the necessity of further protest demonstrations," King said.

But the agreement has no official status. In fact, the Negro desegregation leaders have no city officials with whom they would deal effectively. Birmingham has two governments—an outgoing city commission and a newly-elected mayor-council.

The two groups are engaged in a legal battle over when the mayor-council takes office. The issue will be argued before the state Supreme Court Thursday.

The four points outlined in the agreement are virtually the goals announced by King when he opened the desegregation drive. The only point not completely won was the matter of charges against the demonstrators.

THROUGH STATE

Earlier Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss., told reporters that the Negro "victory" in Birmingham calls for an immediate desegregation campaign throughout the state.

"Even though we have won a marginal victory the state of Alabama is our next target. We can still have at any moment 15,000 persons ready to go to jail simultaneously throughout the state."

MORE READY

Mississippi is the most segregated U.S. state, Mr. Bevel said, "but Alabama is next and they are more ready to be desegregated."

King called the agreement a "great victory . . . that cannot possibly be confined to the limited area of one race." He praised the white members of the bi-racial committee as "men of good will" and called on the Negro community in Birmingham to accept the agreement calmly, with dignity and wise restraint.

GOOD REASON

Despite reports to the contrary, King said there is good reason to believe that none of the children who stayed away from school to join the movement would be expelled.

Meanwhile, the city jail was fast being emptied of the Negroes arrested during the demonstrations.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro minister was injured and several others suffered minor hurts Friday in an outbreak of violence during the third day of racial demonstrations here.

Memo to JFK: Don't Drop It

HYANNIS PORT (UPI)—Talks between Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy carried at least one echo of Canada's recent election campaign—the charge that a memorandum lost by Kennedy in Ottawa in 1961 had contained a slur against former prime minister John Diefenbaker.

Pearson and Kennedy, at a reception for newsmen, decided to report on their discussions for the day. A memo had been prepared and Pearson had asked an aide: "Where is that sheet of paper?"

"Do you mean the one the president dropped on the floor?" a bystander quipped amid loud laughter among those in the room, including Pearson and Kennedy.

Criminal Negligence

JURY CITES WARDEN, GUARDS

MONTREAL (CP)—Michel LeCorre, warden of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, and two of the prison's guards were found criminally negligent Friday night in the death of a guard taken hostage by two prisoners.

The verdict was rendered by a coroner's court jury under Coroner Marcel Trahan.

A legal authority said he understood the jury's findings would be sent to the justice department in Ottawa.

Guard Raymond Tellier, 35, died May 7 after Warden LeCorre ordered three guards armed with pistols to storm a cell where Tellier was held by the two convicts.

COUSIN WOUNDED

One prisoner, Marcel Marcoux, was also killed and the other, his cousin Claude Marcoux, was wounded.

The jury also found both prisoners criminally negligent.

Dr. Jean-Paul Valcourt, medico-legal expert, testified earlier ballistic tests showed the slain guard and prisoner were hit by gunshots fired by Alphonse Desormeaux, 56, a guard at the penitentiary for 29 years.

Dr. Valcourt said autopsies showed Tellier was hit three times and Marcel Marcoux twice by bullets fired from Desormeaux' .38-calibre revolver.

Desormeaux and Aurele Martel, 39, were the guards implicated. Evidence showed Martel also fired a number of shots. The third guard, Gilles Lecompte, 23, said he did not fire because "I couldn't see clearly inside the cell."

WANTED TRANSFER

The Marcoux had taken Tellier prisoner to back up demands for a transfer to Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba.

Warden LeCorre told reporters earlier this week he ordered the guards to invade the cell because it "was the only thing we could do because they had already stabbed the guard several times and he was in great pain."

MEDICAL OPINION

The autopsy showed Tellier had been stabbed three times and there was medical opinion that he would have died from one of the stab wounds in a short time.

Evidence at the inquest showed the prisoners were armed with knives and had bound Tellier hand and foot when the warden arrived to negotiate for the guard's release. Guard Jean - Jacques Gration said the warden told them it was impossible for them to be transferred. He said no action would be taken if they withdrew their request and released Tellier.

UNLESS GRANTED

They refused and said all three would "die in the cell" unless the transfer was granted. They gave M. Le Corre 10 minutes to think it over.

The warden asked for 15 minutes and then left. He conferred with other officials and

Ban on U.S. Flights Likely in Europe

LONDON (UPI)—A British aviation ministry spokesman said last night that if U.S. air lines keep their present trans-Atlantic rates they will be banned from British airports after midnight Sunday.

At least some other European countries indicated they would follow Britain's retaliation against the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board's refusal to approve the 5 per cent boost in trans-Atlantic round trip fares U.S. carriers agreed to last fall.

Under the agreement, round-trip economy fares increased from $486 to $510.

SIDE WITH BRITAIN

Reliable sources in Paris said France was likely to go along with Britain in forbidding the U.S. carriers — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines — from landing on French territory.

A source close to the French government said there was "practically no chance" of France's going against the other European countries involved, and said the Scandinavian countries took the same view.

Danish Airport officials said they had not heard of any proposed ban.

A Dutch government source said his country was preparing to withdraw landing rights to the U.S. carriers.

WILL NOT BACK UP

A Swissair spokesman in Zurich said Friday all 12 European airlines involved in the rate agreement will not go back on their decision even in the face of reported U.S. threats to void their landing rights in the United States.

The CAB, however, is legally unable to refuse landing permission to foreign carriers on the basis of a rate dispute, CAB chairman Alan Boyd said here last month.

The lack of CAB authority over foreign rates may be rectified by legislation, Boyd said.

Ottawa Warning

OTTAWA (CP)—The Air Transport Board has told eight international airlines flying into Canada that they will not be allowed to raise their trans-Atlantic round-trip fares Sunday as planned.

An Ottawa source said that if the foreign airlines charge the higher fares they will be placing in jeopardy their licences to operate in Canada.

Junta in Exile Cubans' Plan

MIAMI (AP) — A new drive to unify Cuban refugees into a single, powerful organization to topple the Fidel Castro regime was disclosed Friday by exile sources.

Plan calls for formation of a junta in exile to mount a three-pronged thrust consisting of sabotage, infiltration and ultimate invasion.

Society Slowed By Snow

OTTAWA (CP)—The capital city's biggest society blowout of the spring season got off to a late start Friday night because six husky dogs couldn't mush their way through an unseasonal blizzard.

The Ottawa Philharmonic Society's springtime party drew a capacity audience to the Lansdowne Park Coliseum. The theme was Robert Service's Cremation of Sam McGee.

About four inches of wet snow fell late in the day, creating a traffic jam in the park and causing a kennel keeper from nearby Stittsville, Ont., to be late with his six dogs in a truck. They were essential to the opening number and finale of the pageant.

Star of the show was television personality Pierre Berton who read Service's poem, while about 40—including diplomats and politicians — enacted the story.

For the Ottawa audience, the story line was adapted to be a parody on the change of government last week.

Mystery Malady

School Closed Rest of Term

BROSSARDVILLE, Que. (CP)—A little red schoolhouse, struck three times in two weeks by an unexplained malady that left pupils drugged and nauseous, was shut down Friday for the remainder of the school term.

"We've tried everything in way of tests," said Police Chief Albert Richard, "but we still don't know what affected the children." He said the unaccountable repetition of the ailment has convinced him there is criminal action behind it.

"SABOTAGE"

"I am sure we have a sabotage affair on our hands," he said. He didn't elaborate.

Health Minister Alphonse Couturier said Friday in the Quebec legislature that pupils, prompted by parents unhappy over the transfer to the 52-pupil school of French-Protestant immigrant children, were bringing smelly objects to class.

MICROBE TO BLAME

Exhaustive tests, and inch-by-inch searches of the one-storey, red-brick school in this suburb of Montreal have uncovered nothing to explain what is happening. Three doctors came to the conclusion that "some microbe might have been the culprit."

Officials of nearby St. Lambert Hospital, said the stricken children seemed drugged to the point where they could have undergone surgery without pain.

Jagan Sees Plot

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan charged Friday night a plot was in the making to overthrow his government by force.

He said he would take every step necessary to thwart it.

* * *

Jagan spoke at a riotous session of the Legislative Assembly of this strike-bound South American colony as a British frigate stood by in Georgetown harbor to back up his proclamation of a state of emergency.

Jeers and catcalls interrupted Jagan's speech. At one point Opposition leader Forbes Burnham called Jagan a coward and Speaker Rahman Gajraj threatened to adjourn the session.

* * *

Jagan cast suspicion for the alleged plot on Burnham's People's National Congress and deputies of Jagan's People's Progressive Party joined in with shouts of "treason."

Jagan read from what he said were documents seized in a raid last Saturday on the Burnham party's headquarters.

Castro Seeks Talks With JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has indicated a desire to talk with President Kennedy.

In a television interview filmed last month in Havana and shown here Friday night, Castro said the recent U.S.-Cuban prisoner swap could be a beginning point for discussions.

He also showed a willingness to discuss compensation for the expropriation of U.S. property in Cuba.

Japanese May Skip Charlottes Herring

VANCOUVER (CP) — Permission for the Japanese to fish herring on the high seas off the west coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands does not necessarily mean Japanese fleets will fish the area, the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission said Friday.

"Although herring on the high seas off Alaska's coast have been legally accessible to Japanese fishermen since May 24, 1960, only one Japanese fleet has attempted a herring fishery, with no success," the commission said.

The statement followed Canada's approval May 8 to permit the Japanese access to west coast Charlottes herring and to take halibut in the Eastern Bering Sea, an action which brought strong protests from B.C. fishermen.

The other two signatories to the North Pacific fisheries treaty which the commission governs, the United States and Japan, had already approved the two recommendations made by the commission.

The commission statement said about 100 U.S. and Canadian halibut boats have already taken about 7,000,000 pounds of halibut in the eastern Bering and now have left the area for other fishing grounds off the coasts of Alaska and B.C. which are still banned to the Japanese.

The quota set for the Bering Sea area is 11,000,000 pounds, which means the Japanese will be able to take some 4,000,000 pounds.

REPORT PLAN

The commission said it is placing in operation a plan for getting daily reports of halibut catches by longliners in the quota area. Japanese longliners will deliver their catches to freezer-motherships which will report daily landings to the Japanese government fisheries agency in Tokyo by cable and thence to commission headquarters here.

Leaders Making 'Good Progress'

tion - governmental communications which already exist.

The president said in response to a query that good progress had been made in discussion of the question of nuclear arms for Canada. The new Liberal government campaigned on the issue that it would accept defensive nuclear equipment made for NATO forces and for weaponry under the North American Air Defence system.

"I wouldn't say anything about the Bomarc until the communique comes out," interjected Pearson with a smile. "We don't want to scoop ourselves."

DISCUSS GATT TALKS

The two leaders also discussed the impending talks at Geneva on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and "our hopes on both sides" for lowering trade barriers.

Another subject was the proposed inter-allied nuclear force in NATO and the multi-lateral nuclear force concept with particular emphasis on the pending NATO ministerial talks at Ottawa starting May 22.

Pearson said of the Great Lakes labor battle that Canadian ships have been subjected to picketing in U.S. ports and "indeed a little worse in Cleveland yesterday."

Thursday at Cleveland a vessel owned by Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, in trouble with the SIU of Canada for two years because it switched to the Canadian Maritime Union, was fired on by a sniper.

Pearson said arrangements are being pushed to bring about a meeting of Jodoin and Meany.

LATIN AFFAIRS

Of the talks generally, Pearson said: "We made progress." Kennedy concurred. The president said discussions today will touch on Latin American affairs. The U.S. would like to see Canada become a member of the Organization of American States.

Other topics included fishing and Pearson's desire to set a 12-mile coastal limit barring all foreign fishermen. Special concessions might be made to certain countries such as the U.S.

COLUMBIA PACT

Oil, lumber and the Columbia River treaty, ratified two years ago by the U.S. Congress but still not ratified in Canada, were also specified by the president for today's itinerary.

At dinner Friday night the two leaders discussed the general East-West situation.

At the outset of the meeting earlier in the day Pearson forecast a course of better understanding in Canadian - U.S. affairs.

BOUND TO DIFFER

Talks will be held in the "frank and friendly way which characterizes relations between our two peoples who speak the same language even when they differ, as they are bound to differ from time to time," Pearson said.

"We share a neighbor's pride in the distinguished career which the prime minister has carved out in the service of his country and in the cause of peace and we welcome him as an old friend," Kennedy declared in his brief welcoming address.

Over a public address system that was muffled by a strong breeze, Pearson replied — with a slip of the tongue — that he was happy to be making his first trip outside Canada as prime minister to the state of Massachusetts. He was in Britain last week.

Pearson was accompanied from Ottawa by Charles Ritchie, Canadian ambassador to Washington, who flanked him at the afternoon talks before a blazing fireplace. Also present was Edgar Ritchie, assistant undersecretary of state for external affairs.

Walton Butterworth, U.S. ambassador in Ottawa, and William Tyler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, accompanied the president.

Jury Cites Warden

returned with the three armed guards.

Desormeaux testified the warden gave him a pistol with a sawed-off barrel and told him to start shooting at a prearranged signal—when the warden touched him.

Desormeaux said he entered the cell behind the warden. They talked with the convicts then left, later returning.

"When we got back in front of the cell door—which was covered by two woollen blankets—Mr. LeCorre asked the Marcoux men to throw out their weapons or we would start shooting.

"One of the inmates replied: 'You come in here LeCorre and you'll get the same thing.' That's when Mr. LeCorre touched me with his hand.

"I fired one shot between a four-inch space between the two blankets and opened the door quickly and went in shooting. As soon as I got in there, I moved aside quickly and let the other guards in.

"Then I saw Marcoux moving in the dark and I fired at him. I thought he would attack me with his knife."

'JUSTIFIABLE'

The request lasted five hours and the five-man jury deliberated for almost an hour. In his summation to the jury, Coroner Trahan said at one point:

"The violent death of prisoner Marcel Marcoux was justifiable. The violent death of guard Tellier probably would not have occurred had it not been for the thoughtlessness and disregard for human life by guards Desmoreaux and Martel and the persons in authority who were present."

CONSULTATIONS

Warden LeCorre testified earlier he decided to try force after consulting with Gregoire Surprenant, eastern regional director of federal penitentiaries and a former warden of St. Vincent de Paul, Deputy Warden J. J. Brennan and a number of guards. Mr. Surprenant said he told the warden "if an attack on the cell became necessary he should do it."

Marcoux, wearing the olive drab penitentiary garb and handcuffed between two provincial policemen, said his cousin stabbed Tellier "in the leg to show he wanted to be transferred."

"During everything I was sitting in the back of the cell. The guard was only stabbed once before the door was opened."

Glaucoma Can Mean Blindness But If Treated, Story Happier

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: What is glaucoma, and what causes it? Can anything be done for it? —C.A.B.

Glaucoma is an increase in pressure inside the eyeball. As the pressure grows, it not only interferes with vision (it can narrow the field of vision, make it foggy, with halos around lights and so on) but in some cases it causes a dull ache in eyes or the head.

Untreated, it can result in blindness and it is probably the greatest single cause of blindness.

CAN BE ARRESTED

When treated—that's a happier story. Very often glaucoma can be arrested. The earlier the treatment, the better. Various drugs, drops in the eyes, changes in living habits to reduce tension, sometimes surgery to relieve the pressure—all of these methods and combinations of them are saving people's eyes every day.

SUDDEN, OR SLOW

Glaucoma is a disease that isn't often found until after the age of 40, or sometimes quite a bit later. Women are affected more often than men.

Glaucoma may come on suddenly and painfully, as an acute case. It may deceptively creep up gradually and quietly, with few or no symptoms you can recognize.

But always the pressure in the eye is too high, which gives us our surest warning. A little instrument called a tonometer can measure this pressure. Once used only by eye specialists, the tonometer is more and more becoming standard equipment of other doctors. When a case is discovered, it is time to consult an eye specialist at once.

Dear Dr. Molner: Three months ago I gave birth to a healthy baby. Now my hair is falling out. Is this common?—A.P.C.

I wouldn't say common, but it is far from unknown. In such cases, the hair grows back again normally after a time and without treatment.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I'm 19 and terrified about my condition, but am too worried to see a doctor. For a year now I have suffered from pinworm, on and off. I've taken medicine which helps temporarily.

I'm wondering if it is something I'm eating, and what I can do to get rid of them permanently. I also secrete a thick, white mucus-like vaginal substance. How can I correct this?—M. H.

Come, now, let's get unterrified. You're having troubles that lots of people have had, and have overcome.

I would venture an opinion that other members of your household have pinworm, too. It's the way the ornery creature survives. One person gets rid of it, and gets it again from somebody else. It isn't from anything you eat.

The real key is to get the whole household treated at the same time. It is not difficult with the newest medications, but they aren't available as drugstore remedies, because the dosage has to be calculated for each person.

The worrisome discharge may be from the pinworms. They are known to irritate the vaginal tract in some cases.

Haiti Told 'Hands Off'

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (CP) —President Juan Bosch warned Friday that he will order the invasion of Haiti if the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince is attacked or political refugees sheltering there are harmed.

"The Dominican people are not disposed to put up with aggression from the mad Duvalier," he told reporters at the presidential palace. He said that in addition to the staff, there are 22 political refugees being sheltered in the embassy from the regime of Haitian President Francois Duvalier.

"I consider that the OAS must go to the core of the problem—the violation of human rights and international law," Bosch said. The OAS team sent to Haiti and the Dominican Republic investigated only Dominican charges that Haitian militia invaded the Dominican Republic Embassy last month in Port au Prince looking for Haitian refugees.

Under new and broadened powers, the team will return to the two Caribbean neighbors shortly. But the broadened powers permit an inquiry into Haiti's internal affairs only as they affect the safety of refugees in foreign embassies.

Bosch said he might withdraw his troops from the frontier if President Francois Duvalier of Haiti guarantees safe conduct to the 22 Haitians who fled to the Dominican Embassy.

There were 1,850,000 convictions for parking offences in Canada in 1960.

Reluctant Peers Losing Shackles

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's reluctant peers will be freed of their hereditary shackles by the time of the next general elections, the government promised Friday.

Iain Macleod, leader of the House of Commons, said legislation to allow peers to give up their titles will be adopted by that time.

Student Witches To Die

DAR ES SALAAM (Reuters) —Three Tanganyikan "student witches" were sentenced to death Thursday on charges of aiding and abetting the 1961 murder of a middle-aged woman in a secret midnight jungle ritual.

The woman, Fatima Nyangundai, was drugged and held down while her head was cut off. Her body was cut up for drying, before being turned into powdered "medicine."

The convicted women, Hadija Saidi, Zainabu Athumani, and Zabibu Abdu, were among a group of "apprentices" summoned to watch the ceremony.

Words and Actions

IF PRESIDENT KENNEDY is a betting man the odds are that he bets only on a sure thing. Already he has displayed this tendency whenever he has assumed the role of prophet—for whatever he predicts comes to pass.

This knack of foretelling the future, however, is not so much that he is Dame Fortune's favorite son or that the fates smile more upon him than upon other mortals as it is that he possesses the ability to arrange coming events to his own liking.

A prime example of this occurred Wednesday of this week, when at his press conference he expressed his personal doubts about the possibility of the nuclear nations reaching a test ban agreement.

Asked if he thought another round of nuclear tests would eventuate if no agreement is reached, he said: "I'm afraid if we don't get agreement that's what will happen. I think that it will be a great disaster for all concerned. . . I'm afraid if that happens the genie is out of the bottle and we'll never get it back again."

The implication of his words taken by newsmen at his conference was that though the president both feared and condemned any resumption of nuclear testing he could see no other course ahead if Britain, France, Russia and the United States could not agree among themselves to institute a test-ban treaty.

Part of his forecast came quickly true. In a matter of hours after his conference it was announced from Las Vegas that the United States will touch off two nuclear blasts before the end of this month.

Sadly, therefore, has the American president himself taken the responsibility of removing the cork from the bottle and allowing the genie to escape—a genie he has already admitted would be impossible to return once it was loosed.

The outside world will marvel at the seeming conflict between his apparent reluctance to see nuclear tests resumed and his obvious anxiety to be the first to continue them.

Closing the Gap

THE TAXPAYERS of Saanich and Oak Bay are not going to reap any direct benefit from the increase of $20 in the B.C. government's home-owner grant, because the municipal tax rates in those areas have risen more than the $20 extra grant for homes of the average type.

It is thus a case of taking with one hand and giving away with the other, which may be all right for those taxpayers who receive the government grant but not pleasant for commercial or industrial taxpayers or those who live in apartments or rented homes to whom the government grant does not apply.

The disappointment which will be felt by the taxpayers of Oak Bay and Saanich, and to a lesser degree those of Esquimalt (whose rate has gone up rather more modestly), will not be lessened by the fact that the City of Victoria has managed to hold its mill rate at the 1962 level.

The end effect is to bring the tax levels of the city and its neighboring municipalities more into line with one another, and this in itself may have important repercussions.

Parochial pride apart, the main reason why the voters of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt oppose any move toward amalgamation of the area into a governmental unit is fear that in joining the city they would involve themselves in a higher rate of tax.

As the mill rate in the municipalities gradually rises towards the current 55 mills of the city, so may decline the outlying opposition to amalgamation.

If in Oak Bay and Saanich independent services are not running as economically and efficiently as they would as part of a larger organization, the result will eventually show in the annual balance sheet.

It may therefore be that this year's tax rate situation could prove to be a valuable stepping stone for those who want to see the Greater Victoria area handled as a single unit.

Promising Signs

PERHAPS it is a little early for British Columbia to start counting its chickens for the 1963 tourist season, but the eggs certainly look promising. And to do the metaphor to death for the sake of consistency, the first hatchings have been excellent.

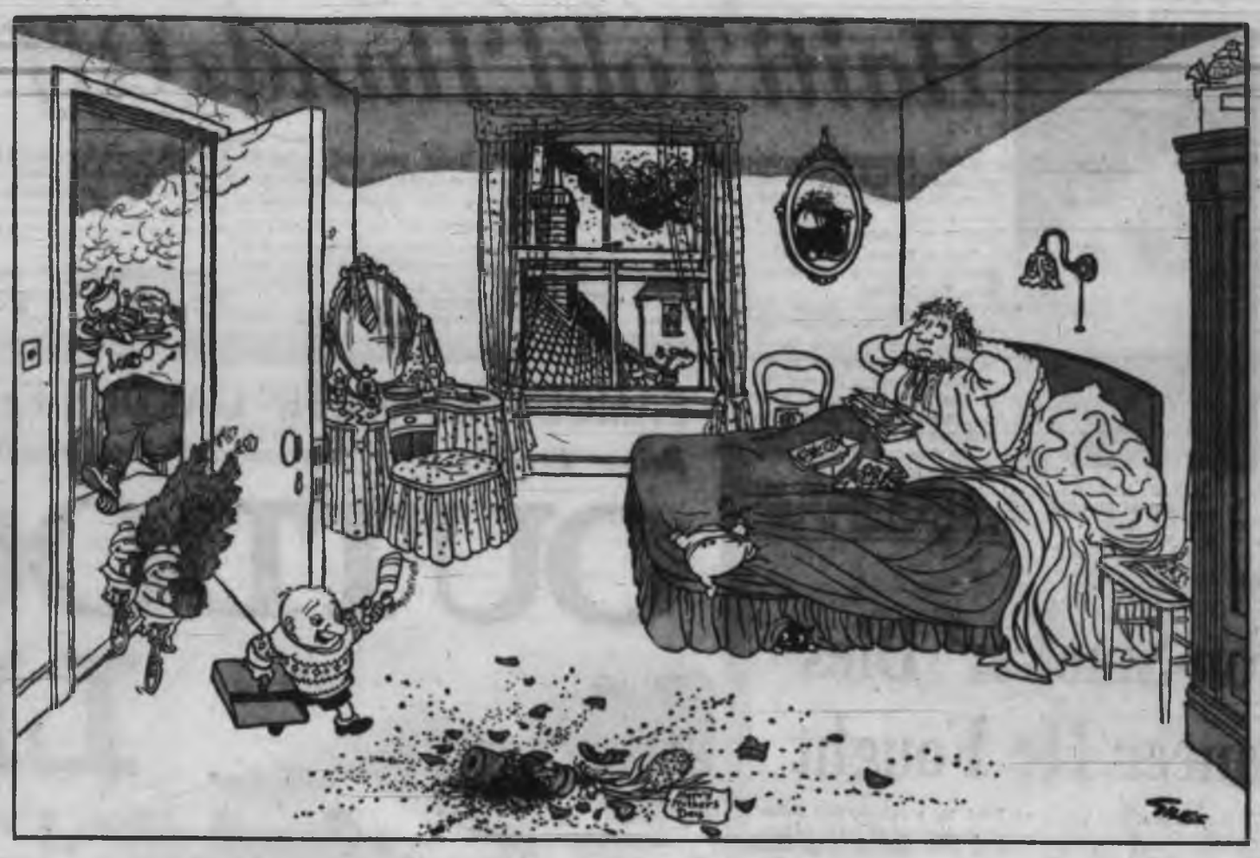

Cited in recent days have been two gratifying omens. Inquiries to the provincial government travel bureau in April numbered 15,985, establishing a new record for the month by a margin of 2,146, and, according to Recreation Minister Westwood, the requests for information from prospective visitors are flowing in at double last year's rate. To back up this promise is the actuality of a substantial gain in the first quarter of the year in border crossings between the United States and British Columbia, a 12.8 per cent increase for the three months and a 21.6 per cent jump for March alone.

Mr. Westwood has noted that at the beginning of the year there was some concern in the province that tourist trade might decline for lack of an attraction like the Seattle World's Fair. The encouraging signs, however, tend to bear out the opposite theory that many tourists introduced to this part of the continent by coming to the Seattle exposition will want to come again and see more, for the fair itself left many of those who attended it short of time and money for further exploration.

This will be particularly cheering for up-Island resorts and communities, which last year suffered from this circumstance and additionally lost to the Seattle attraction some of their regular summer patronage from Victoria and the Lower Mainland.

The Rogers Pass can also be expected to bolster Canadian tourism still further this year, and credit is claimed—and can readily be given—for the recreation department's goodwill tour in California for greatly increasing interest in B.C. in that quarter.

The provincial travel bureau has undertaken the heaviest advertising campaign in its history, and this energetic approach conjoined with regional and commercial publicity appears likely to bring results which will clearly illustrate the worth of such endeavor.

"Dad says it's Mother's Day and you're to relax and have breakfast in bed and we'll look after the house . . ."

Soviet Leadership

Pre-Occupied with Own Affairs

By ROBERT STEPHENS from London

THE visit to Moscow of President Kennedy's special envoy, Mr. Averell Harriman, was prompted chiefly by fears of a new East-West crisis over Laos. But Mr. Harriman's talk with Mr. Khrushchev also gave the West a further opportunity to probe Soviet intentions at a time when there has been much speculation about the future course of Soviet foreign policy and about Mr. Khrushchev's own future.

Earlier probes had been made in talks in Washington between the American secretary of state, Mr. Dean Rusk, and the Soviet ambassador, Mr. Dobrynin, as well as in the recent letters sent to Mr. Khrushchev by President Kennedy and Mr. Macmillan about a nuclear test ban.

Ever since the Soviet setback in Cuba last autumn, there have been signs of confusion and hesitation in Soviet foreign policy. Mr. Khrushchev was obviously manoeuvring with great care and skill to minimize the effects of his diplomatic defeat and, at the same time, to preserve the main bases of his co-existence policy despite increasing attack from Communist China.

* * *

Immediately after the agreement to withdraw Soviet nuclear rockets from Cuba, it looked as though a Cuban settlement might pave the way to other East-West agreements, particularly on the control or reduction of nuclear weapons.

First and foremost came the hope of an agreement on a nuclear test ban. But at the Geneva disarmament conference, the Russians at first showed no sign of budging from their refusal to accept any international on-site inspection as part of a test ban treaty. The only hopeful straw in the wind was their offer to accept three "black boxes", automatic seismic recording stations, on Soviet territory.

Mr. Khrushchev was also showing himself to be in no hurry about fulfilling other parts of the Cuban agreement he had reached with President Kennedy. Soviet troops were still in Cuba, so were the Soviet bombers supplied to Fidel Castro.

Western diplomats drew the conclusion that Mr. Khrushchev did not want to broaden East-West negotiations, because he was, in fact, in no position to make anything that might look like a concession on his part. Then, rather surprisingly, the Soviet premier, in an exchange of letters with President Kennedy, offered to accept two or three one-site inspections as part of a nuclear test ban treaty. The test ban talks were given a new impetus, first in the Soviet-American meetings in New York, and then at the resumption of the Geneva disarmament conference. The Soviet bombers were also withdrawn from Cuba and shortly afterwards it was announced that several thousand Soviet troops would leave Cuba before the middle of March.

But the hopes of ending the test ban deadlock soon faded. The Russians refused to discuss how on-site inspection should be carried out until the West had accepted their figure of two or three for the annual quota of inspections. The West, having proposed seven inspections as a minimum quota, insisted that it was impossible to fix a figure without, at the same time, knowing just how, where, when, and by whom the inspections would be carried out.

The Soviet attitude seemed to be hardening, and rumors began to circulate in the West, some from Communist sources, that Mr. Khrushchev was under attack by some of his colleagues for being too "soft" at home and abroad. Soviet-Chinese relations were certainly more strained than ever before. Rumors about a political crisis in the Soviet leadership were also given some color by the new pressures brought on the "liberals" among the Soviet artists and writers to conform more closely to the Communist party line.

At the same time, the Geneva agreement on the neutrality of Laos was threatened with breakdown because of a split in the neutralist forces there. The pro-Communist Pathet Lao gave military support to a dissident left-wing neutralist faction, gaining ground from the neutralist troops of General Kong Le, which provided the military backing for the neutralist prime minister of Laos, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

* * *

British efforts to secure Soviet co-operation in restoring the situation in Laos by declaring support for Prince Souvanna Phouma and the International Control Commission (Canada, Poland and India) were only partly successful. The Russians gave some help in stopping the fighting on the spot but were reluctant to commit themselves openly to public diplomatic action.

Once again, there seemed to be a certain malaise in Soviet policy. Was it because Mr. Khrushchev was uncertain of his own position? Or was he changing to a tougher line, either voluntarily or under pressure from within the Communist bloc? These were the kind of questions being asked in the Western capitals.

There are still no clear answers. But the impression left by Mr. Harriman's visit and by other Western approaches suggests first of all that Mr. Khrushchev is still in full control in Moscow. If he intends to shed some of his load by giving up the premiership while keeping the key post of first secretary of the Communist Party, as some people have suggested, then it will be his own choice.

Secondly, it looks as though Soviet foreign policy is in for a period of marking time. Russia will continue to be much preoccupied with her own internal affairs and her leadership of the Communist world, especially her relations with China. While Mr. Khrushchev will not basically change his policy of co-existence with the West or go out looking for trouble, he is not expected to risk any new initiatives for agreement with the United States until he has the dispute with Peking more firmly under control.

Evolution

Radiation Theory

By John Davy from London

AN ingenious theory which suggests that the earth's core may have had important repercussions on biological evolution, is put forward in Nature by R. J. Uffen of the University of Western Ontario.

The churning of the earth's core is thought to generate the earth's magnetic field, through a kind of dynamo effect. The magnetic field in turn holds in place the radiation belts of spiralling particles surrounding the earth discovered by Dr. Van Allen with the help of satellites.

If the magnetic field disappeared, these particles would be "spilled" down onto the earth—and would provide a considerable dose of radiation. This radiation would speed up genetic mutation in living organisms and affect their rate of evolution.

Mr. Uffen points out that there is evidence from the study of magnetism in rocks that the earth's magnetic field has in fact reversed from time to time—so that the south magnetic pole moved to the north. During every reversal, there has probably been a time when the magnetic field has fallen to zero, thus exposing life on the earth to increased radiation.

Apart from this, Mr. Uffen points out that in the earlier stages of the earth's evolution, the core would not have become large enough or mobile enough to produce any magnetic field. During this time, the earth's surface would have been exposed to too much radiation for life to develop.

Only when the magnetic field began to be generated—which Mr. Uffen estimates as 2,500 million years ago—would the protective radiation belts begin to build up, and the evolution of life begin.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The Metis under Louis Riel were defeated by the militia 78 years ago today in 1885—during the second northwest rebellion. After the defeat at Batoche, Sask., Riel gave himself up and was charged with treason. Although he was French-speaking, he was tried before an English-speaking jury and was convicted. He was executed at Regina Nov. 16, 1885. The divisions aroused by Riel's hanging took many years to heal.

1901—Trail, B.C., was incorporated as a city.

1880—Canada's first high commissioner to London was appointed.

Britain and Germany

More Cordial Relations

By FRANK HAARHOFF

THE Queen's planned visit to West Germany in the fall is one of a number of indications that Anglo-German relations have improved considerably since former German President Theodor Heuss was shown the cold shoulder in London five years ago.

"OK, Fritz, you're out of the doghouse," headlined the Daily Sketch in October, 1958, when Heuss arrived in the capital. He was the first German head of state invited since Kaiser Wilhelm's visit in 1907. London's politer newspapers either muffled their welcome or ignored the president editorially. And as Heuss and the Queen rode in an open coach from the station to Buckingham Palace, the crowds stood silent except for an occasional shout by a German.

Commented the West German newspaper Die Welt on the antipathy of the majority of the British people: "This is disappointing to many of us who had expected more progress in friendship during the past few years. Now we know we were wrong."

* * *

Protocol would have dictated a return visit long before now. But any discussion about it in those days would have resulted in a public outcry. In the meantime, however, a subtle change has taken place in the attitudes of both the British government and the British public toward West Germany. President Charles de Gaulle has speeded up this process by his objections to Britain's entry to the European Common Market.

* * *

The British are grateful for the help they received from West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder and Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard in trying to overcome France's opposition. And they appreciate Schroeder's efforts to keep alive negotiations for a future bid by Britain to join the European Economic Community.

Events apart from the Common Market negotiations have also contributed to the warmer atmosphere. For example, London apparently no longer desires to take an independent initiative on the German and especially the Berlin problems as was the case when Prime Minister Macmillan traveled to Moscow in 1959. At that time, West Germans feared the British might try to reach agreements with the Russians at their expense. Today, London takes a much tougher line with Moscow. And Bonn's problems find a more sympathetic ear in London. There is even talk that a German may become commander of NATO's northern front.

Both British and West German politicians seem to agree that Economics Minister Erhard's nomination as Chancellor Adenauer's successor is welcome news. They feel that after Erhard's takeover, sometime in October, relations between the two countries will improve even further. For Erhard is regarded as a friend of Britain. And he has already indicated that he would strive for closer relations with Britain and more flexible ties with France.

Adenauer, on the other hand, has always viewed London with suspicion. These feelings were mutual, however. As the British see it, the 87-year-old chancellor has neither forgotten nor forgiven his dismissal as mayor of Cologne by British occupation authorities after the last war.

All these political developments have also led to a change in public sentiment in Britain. Although the average Englishman still does not particularly love the Germans, he does display a much more tolerant attitude toward them. They are no longer summarily regarded or referred to as "Huns." In Wales, where German Panzer troops have been trained for a couple of years, townspeople have even discussed the creation of an Anglo-German friendship club.

* * *

This changing attitude is reflected in newspaper editorials. The Manchester Guardian wrote recently: "The time has surely come to behave toward Germans as normal human beings do toward other normal human beings."

Thus, the groundwork has been laid for the Queen's first state visit to West Germany. It is expected that she will receive a warm welcome there, and that there will be no public uproar in Britain over the visit.

Scientific Calculation

Hotter Above

From The Kiwanis Magazine

IN SETTING the measurement standards for the United States, scientists at the National Bureau of Standards ordinarily keep both feet planted firmly on the ground. But several decades ago, Dr. Paul P. Foote, an NBS scientist, unofficially inquired into the relative temperature of heaven and hell.

Using the Bible as his authority, he quoted Isaiah 30:26, "The light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days."

Heaven thus must receive from the moon fifty times as much radiation as the earth does from the sun (7 x 7 plus 1). If you use the Stefan Boltzmann fourth-power law for radiation, fifty equals the fourth power of H divided by E, where H is the absolute 300-degree temperature (273 plus 27) of the earth. This gives H, or the temperature of heaven, as 798 degrees absolute or 525 degrees centigrade.

Having calculated heaven's temperatures, Dr. Foote looked to Revelations 21:8 for a clue to the temperature of hell: "But the fearful and unbelieving . . . shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone." Hell therefore must be cooler than 444.6 degrees centigrade, the temperature at which brimstone (sulphur) changes from liquid to gas. Thus, with the temperature of heaven 525 degrees centigrade and that of hell no warmer than 445 degrees centigrade, heaven must be hotter than hell.

"It seems," says Dr. Foote, "whether you wear wings or a tail in the next life, they would undoubtedly have to be made of asbestos."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

EVERY time there is a radio or TV program involving people of a past generation, whether Sir John A. and his colleagues or Charles the Second, or Richard the Lion Heart, they are made to talk in rotted, pompous phrases that sound like the documents of their time. It is true Shakespeare set a fashion of dramatic utterance that has affected all dramatic presentation from his day on. But Shakespeare was a poet first, and a dramatist in order to make a living. It is absurd to think that people talked, a hundred, three hundred or a thousand years ago, any differently than they talk today.

If this delusion as to how people conversed is based on the literary or documentary evidence of their time, then the mistake is founded on an inexcusable oversight on the part of our scholars. It is little more than two hundred years that only a small section of the population could read or write. And from the earliest times, those who wrote "took pen in hand" as the saying is. With the greatest self-consciousness, and a considerable sense of importance, those who could write made a production of it. It would have been beneath their talents to have written in the idiom of their time. And it is my impression that, in general, the popular idiom of Henry VIII was pretty close to the popular idiom of today. We make a mistake in trying to thrust our forebears from us.

Fighting Pollution

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHEN they returned recently from their recess within a recess a number of members of the U.S. Congress reported they found people back home interested not in Laos or Cuba or even in the Rockefeller marriage and how it may affect the presidential race next year but in something much more immediate. That is how they can be sure of getting a drink of relatively unpolluted water when they turn on the tap.

Pollution of the water supply is becoming a serious problem in area after area. In many communities those who can afford it are buying bottled water. They are becoming accustomed to seeing a deposit of sediment from water out of the tap run into bathtubs and dishpans.

This has a direct bearing on conservation and the survival of fish and game. But as hundreds of newly developed chemical compounds are dumped into streams in industrial waste and used with a heavy hand in insect sprays it is a factor of still-undetermined significance in the health of human beings. And as compared to the thousands of scientists at work developing new chemicals and pesticides very little is being done about this wholesale pollution of the environment.

A principal source that has been building up during the past 15 years is the chemical detergents used by millions of housewives in automatic dishwashers. Today four billion pounds of detergent a year are used. This chemical dissolves in water only very gradually and so, as it is dumped into sewage systems that in turn pour into streams and rivers, it is a more or less permanent cause of pollution.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D., Wis.) has put in a bill which would set standards that detergent manufacturers must meet after 1965. New processes are available which at little additional cost would produce soluble detergents. This has been proved out in West Germany which pioneered the chemical detergents. There the parliament outlawed insoluble detergents after a certain date when it was shown that even principal rivers, such as the Rhine, were piled high with detergent foam.

Nelson, who as governor pushed through a $50,000,000 conservation program to preserve the great recreation resources of his state, told the Senate that chemical detergents have been found to have polluted the underground water in 64 of Wisconsin's 72 counties. He punctured the idea that this was a state problem which could be handled by the state, pointing out that underground water supplies following mysterious underground routes lead for hundreds of miles in all directions from Wisconsin's rivers and streams.

* * *

He called attention to the effect of detergent foam in clogging sewage plants. This foam becomes impregnated with a high bacteria count and carried by the wind it becomes an immediate health hazard. As early as 1950 the Wisconsin State Board of Health reported a wall of foam on the Mississippi River in western Wisconsin 15 feet high, 35 feet wide and 300 feet long. Some years later helicopters had to be used to blow away foam on the Baraboo River in searching for a lost boy.

The official West German institute for water, soil and air hygiene reported last year finding indications of cancer-producing effects of detergents in the water supply. This is, of course, only a tentative finding. But it suggests the unknowns in the release of a vast new volume of chemicals in man's environment.

A few scientists in the Taft Sanitary Engineering Centre in Cincinnati have been studying the effects of detergent pollution.

In a recent report they pointed out how dire the consequences can be as virtually all of this material finds its way into surface and ground water. Since with the population explosion water supplies must be used over and over, the cumulative volume of detergents can be an ever-increasing menace unless it is checked.

* * *

Nelson, a freshman senator, is convinced there is a large body of public opinion deeply concerned about the pollution of the air and water and ready to respond to leadership seeking to save what is left of the American heritage and to protect defenceless individuals from poisons discharged at random into the environment. In introducing his detergent bill, he spoke of a battle to preserve the simplest basic elements necessary to human survival. This is a line that may have far more political appeal than is realized here in the capital.

Another 35 Cents On Sugar Prices

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wholesale sugar prices in Vancouver are expected to climb another 35 cents for 100 pounds Monday and a B.C. Sugar Refining Co. official sees no end to the increases.

The wholesale climb, expected to increase retail prices, matches the fourth rise this week set by eastern Canadian refiners.

Astronaut Prepares

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper jogged along a beach Friday, spent 90 minutes at the controls of a jet plane and then ran through a final simulated countdown and launching in preparation for his long-duration space mission next week.

The 36 - year - old U.S. Air Force major is scheduled to soar atop an Atlas missile Tuesday for a record American space ride intended to last more than 34 hours.

Shortly after dawn Friday Cooper donned sweat clothes and made a pre-breakfast exercise run along a deserted Cape Canaveral beach. In mid-morning, he flew from nearby Patrick Air Force Base in an F-102 jet plane, one of four the U.S. astronauts use to maintain flight proficiency.

He later donned his space suit and climbed into his Faith 7 spacecraft atop the Atlas booster on launch pad No. 14—which was the same jumping-off place for the three previous orbiting Americans, John Glenn, Scott Carpenter and Walter Schirra.

The simulation covered final countdown phases, liftoff and the five minutes of Atlas-powered flight. It was the first mock drill in which hydrogen peroxide fuel was pumped into the spacecraft. The fuel is used to control the capsule's position in space.

Today, Cooper will confine himself mainly to the astronauts' ready room at Cape Canaveral's famed hangars. He will start a low-residue diet and spend the last three days before the flight resting and studying.

Doctors will make several medical checks to obtain data to compare with physical condition information to be relayed during Cooper's scheduled 22-orbit trip.

Peace Based On Order Pope's Hope

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope John Friday accepted the Balzan Peace Prize with a renewed appeal for world harmony.

The Pope noted that it was the first time in history a Pope had been awarded a peace prize.

"The Pope who is speaking to you intends to persevere humbly in his action at the service of men and the peace of the world," he said.

The Pope accepted the $160,000 prize from Italian President Segni.

He said "Peace is the arch which leads from earth to heaven."

Bank Cracks Vault To Get Combination

TRENTON, Ont. (UPI) — Royal Bank of Canada officials broke into their own vault Friday to find out how to open it.

Construction workers and locksmiths were called in to "crack" the safe after an employee locked his half of the combination inside the night before.

X-Rays Find More TB

More than 120 new cases of tuberculosis were discovered among 137,000 B.C. residents who took free chest X-rays last year, Mrs. M. Alice Kimmitt, 837 Burdett, said last night.

A director-at-large of the B.C. Tuberculosis Society, Mrs. Kimmitt said the figure was "amazing."

MARKED INCREASE

"These figures indicate a marked increase in tuberculosis over the findings of the previous year," she said. "TB authorities are particularly concerned with the tuberculosis situation in Prince Rupert, Terrace and Hazelton."

Annual Christmas seal campaign raised $273,097 throughout B.C., more than $25,000 of it in Victoria.

Burglar Jailed for Two Years, Sentence Suspended for Youth

Keith Mullaly, 20, of 723 Yates, was sentenced to two years less a day in Oakalla and Duncan Francis Woods, 18, 3003 Vancouver, was placed under a suspended sentence as spring assize court ended in Victoria Law Courts yesterday.

The two accused were tried on four charges of burglary with intent to steal, involving break-ins at Belmont High School, Milnes Landing High School, Sooke Building Supplies (1960) Ltd., and a dwelling house on Gillespie Road, the night of Jan. 30.

Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker directed the 11-man, one-woman jury to return a verdict of not guilty on the fourth charge.

He said the crown had failed to prove that the building on Gillespie Road was a dwelling house.

The jury found the two accused guilty of the other three charges.

Mullaly's three sentences—one for each charge—are concurrent. Woods will be on probation for 18 months under a $500 bond.

The second trial of Hendrik Witteveen, 2721 Shelbourne, on charges of criminal negligence, impaired driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident, will be held at the fall assizes.

Mr. Justice David Verchere declared a mistrial April 20 because of evidence given which could have affected a previous decision on a trial within a trial. .

Witteveen was charged following an accident New Year's Day in which Arthur Vincent Seear, 79, of 2042 Meadow Place, was struck down by a car about 5 p.m. at Richmond and Bay. Mr. Seear died Jan. 4.

Also slated to appear at the fall assizes are George Rosman, 136 Conard, and Albert Lamb, no fixed address, on a charge of breaking and entering a shed at 138 Dallas Road.

★ ★ ★

In city magistrate's court Andrew MacGregor, no fixed address, was sentenced to 45 days on each of four counts of cashing worthless cheques. At the same time he was given a 45-day sentence on a similar charge in Oak Bay court. The sentences are to be consecutive.

MacGregor pleaded guilty to cashing a worthless $25 cheque at Wright's Meat Market, 2215 Oak Bay, on Jan. 8.

He also admitted obtaining $10 cash from Thomas Campbell, April 16; $20 cash from Gibson's Ladies' Wear Ltd., 708 View, Jan. 14; $10 cash from W. & J. Wilson Ltd., 1221 Government, Feb. 9; $12 cash from Wellburn's Low-Cost Market, 1058 Pandora, Feb. 19, by cashing worthless cheques.

Frederick Schuman, 1559 Burton, was remanded to May 15 for election and plea on a charge of indecent assault against a female person. Bail was set at $1,000.

David Gene Wood, 21, of 7895 East Saanich Road, pleaded guilty on two counts of stealing pay telephones over the value of $50 and one count of stealing a coin box under the value of $50.

Telephones were ripped from booths on Douglas north of Humboldt and Government south of Humboldt. The coin box was stolen from a booth on Blanshard between Johnson and Yates. A tire wrench had been used to pry the instruments loose.

Wood pleaded guilty to a similar offence in Saanich court Thursday. At that time Magistrate William Ostler ordered restitution of $65.27 in change to B.C. Telephone Company. The money was found in Wood's possession when he was arrested at 4 a.m. Thursday.

The telephones, worth from $260 to $270, were damaged beyond repair. The coin box is valued at $30.

Wood was remanded to May 17 for probation report and sentence.

Five Sunset Rites Planned Next Week

Loses Out

Rev. E. G. Hansell, 67, Social Credit MP for Macleod, Alta., from 1935 to 1958, and Alberta MLA since 1959, lost his bid for renomination at Okotoks-High River yesterday. Mr. Hansell was party campaign leader when Socreds won in B.C. in 1952.

Five sunset ceremonies will be held on the lawns outside the legislative buildings next week, the first of 16 ceremonies planned for May and June.

$354,400,000 in Bills Met by Special Warrant

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Liberal government has received authorization under a special Governor-General's warrant to tap the treasury for $354,416,247 to meet its May bills.

The special warrant was the fourth issued on cabinet order by Governor - General Vanier since the last Parliament was dissolved Feb. 6. It was published today in the official Canada Gazette.

It raises to $1,256,702,635 the amount of government expenditures covered by the four special warrants—all issued because Parliament dissolved without the government having received approval for expenditures either in the last fiscal year ended March 31 or the new year that began April 1.

Like the earlier ones, the new warrant covers routine expenditures, with one exception: A $30,000,000 loan to the unemployment insurance fund.

'Green Lady' Kills Three More

NEW YORK (AP) — Three more deaths were attributed to wood alcohol Friday, bringing to 39 the number of Bowery derelicts who have succumbed since May 2.

Derelicts still were being taken from the Bowery to Bellevue hospital, where 30 were in critical condition after drinking a wood alcohol and water mixture known as "green lady."

Two hardware store clerks have been arrested and accused of selling paint thinner to Bowery drunkards at 45 cents a pint. The thinner contains wood alcohol.

Pacific Pete Top Trader At New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A resurgence of lower-priced issues sparked a late stock market rally, giving the list its third straight daily rise.

Seven of the 15 most active issues sold at under $20 a share. The most active stock was Pacific Petroleum, making a big percentage gain as it advanced 1⅝ to 13⅝ on turnover of 313,000 shares—more than tripling the volume of its nearest rival for trading honors.

The sale of 45,000 shares of Pacific Petroleum removed from the market a large supply of this stock which had been overhanging.

General Motors, which had been loafing along, closed with enough strength to make a new all-time high of 73⅝, gaining ⅛.

First Drop of Week

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials, for the first time during the week, showed a loss on index amid moderate trading.

Base metals were also lower, with golds and western oils slightly ahead.

Losses appeared through all industrial groups, Interprovincial Pipe Line leading the decline with a drop of 1½ to 84.

Other losses, generally fractional, included Simpsons and Du Pont, each off ⅝, Royal Bank, Ontario Steel and BA Oil all down ⅜ and Bell Telephone, Guaranty Trust and Hayes Steel, each down ⅛.

Canada Iron advanced ⅝, Consumers' Gas ⅛ and Distillers Seagrams, Walker-Gooderham and Weston B ⅛.

Senior base metals were at lower levels with Labrador ⅝, International Nickel off ⅝, Geco down ⅛ and Hudson Bay Mining down ⅛.

Boom in Pacific

MONTREAL (CP) — Pacific Pete featured on a market that was mainly down in dull trading.

In a turnover of 11,715, Pacific Pete rose 1⅛ to 14⅝ but most stocks were fractionally down.

Bell dropped ⅜ to 57⅛, Bank of Nova Scotia ⅛ to 75½, MacMillan ⅛ to 24½, and, in a turnover of 4,418 shares, Hudson's Bay Company ⅛ to 13⅞.

Bethlehem Rises

VANCOUVER—Industrials were mainly lower and mines were mixed in fairly active trading.

Placer lost a point at $29 among mines, but Bethlehem at 3.70, Endako at 3.80 and Buttle at .60 were higher.

Aluminium, Pacific Petroleum, Okanagan Helicopters, Crown Zellerbach, and Mid West Gas reversed the general downward trend in industrials.

For Sunro Mine

New Copper Deal Set

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Cowichan Copper Company, which has shipped $2,500,000 of copper concentrates from its Sunro mine at Jordan River to Japan, has concluded a new royalty agreement with Consolidated Mining and Smelting from whom the Sunro property is leased.

O. G. Macdonald, president, in a report to shareholders says that after the 900,000 tons of ore defined by Consolidated Mining and Smelting have been mined, the royalty to that company will be reduced by approximately two-thirds. The lease will also be extended from 20 to 30 years provided the mine remains in production.

Mr. Macdonald says the Cowichan policy is to retire its debt as fast as possible and after providing for sufficient working capital and reserve for exploration, to initiate a dividend policy.

Mr. Macdonald also reported he and his associated had formed a separate exploration company which would explore properties outside Sunro, at no cost to Cowichan, while Cowichan would receive an interest in any resultant developments arising from the exploration company activities.

In charge of exploration will be D. C. Malcolm, who for the past five years has been B.C. geologist for Phelps Dodge Corporation of New York, and was formerly on the exploration staff of Consolidated Mining and Smelting.

Mr. Malcolm believes massive copper ore bodies lie unexplored in southern Vancouver Island over an area of 300 square miles, and as a result of his views 40 extra claims have been leased from Consolidated Mining and Smelting in the Jordan River area.

The geologist has also said renewed exploration at Cowichan's Blue Grouse property at Cowichan Lake should give enough mill feed to justify resumption of mining and milling on the property there.

Mr. Macdonald added that the new exploration company would receive financial backing from Japanese interests. The Cowichan president has returned recently from a visit to Japan where he discussed with Japanese smelting firms the possibility of receiving funds for further exploration work.

Talks to Continue In Hotel Dispute

Parties in the Empress Hotel labor dispute will meet at 10 a.m. today in the third day of conciliation talks aimed at averting a threatened strike.

Negotiators representing the Canadian Pacific hotel and Local 276, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC), Friday met "pretty well all day" with Victoria conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin, Mr. McLaughlin said last night.

Negotiations began in January, 1962, and employees voted by more than 90 per cent in early April to authorize their union officials to call a strike.

Inquiry Set Next Week On Fatal Fall

An inquiry will be held next week into the death of 31-year-old Lloyd A. E. Quinlan, 587 Wootton Road, who fell to his death from an Oak Bay high-rise apartment Wednesday, coroner Dr. J. H. Moore said yesterday.

Mr. Quinlan, a former RCN radar plotter, was working on the eighth floor of the Rudyard Kipling apartment under construction on Beach Drive when he fell.

Canadians Lack Sweet Tooth

TORONTO (UPI)—A confectionery executive says Canadians eat less candy than either Americans or Britons.

The president of the Confectionery Association of Canada, John Hewitt of Winnipeg, said Britons consume 24 pounds of sweets annually, compared to 17½ pounds eaten by Americans and only 14 pounds by Canadians.

Marcoux Resigns From Socred Party

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir says Dr. Guy Marcoux has resigned from the Social Credit party and will sit as an independent member when the House of Commons session opens Thursday.

The newspaper says the Social Credit party executives have not yet been advised of Dr. Marcoux' resignation but party Leader Robert Thompson "probably will learn of it" today.

Dr. Marcoux won Quebec Montmorency riding in the June, 1962, election and was re-elected April 8.

Meanwhile, in Quebec City, Fernand Ouellet announced his resignation as national executive director of the party. He said he was "disillusioned about politics" but "I still believe in Social Credit."

SUPPORTS MARCOUX

He said he supported Dr. Marcoux "unreservedly." Dr. Marcoux "is the only man in the Quebec party who can judge things with a clear head."

"I wouldn't be surprised if he resigned from the party."

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

ANY TIME NOW: With Calgary apparently out of the Western Hockey League and Edmonton almost certainly having to follow suit we can reasonably expect that the subject of another Victoria franchise will be brought up at any hour. It could happen, but don't cancel that winter holiday in the expectation that we will have professional hockey next season, or in any season in the forseeable future.

According to reports, the matter of another WHL franchise for Victoria has again, and recently been tentatively explored, and, it appears, rejected for a reason which will become obvious. An informant says that Jack Morgan, manager of Memorial Arena, has already sounded out the possibility of having the Spokane franchise shifted here. He was told the club was not interested in coming on any low rental deal but would sell the franchise for $150,000. That's the coviousness of it. There just can't be anyone willing to risk that kind of money on professional hockey here, even if he, or they, could get a franchise.

That in itself is most unlikely. Although league and club officials will offer platitudes about Calgary's withdrawal, almost all will be hoping that Edmonton won't be foolish enough to try and make it go without its Alberta neighbor. The fact is that a situation long desired by most other WHL clubs has come about a season or two sooner than had been hoped.

Without the two Prairie clubs, the WHL is down to a more-workable and less-expensive club setup, and it's not about to go to seven. Spokane, because of transportation difficulties, remains a bit of a problem and the Inland Empire will eventually lose its hockey club. But when it does, it will be transplanted elsewhere, probably in San Diego. With a league composed of such large population centres as San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, the WHL will have cleared the first big hurdle towards its goal of eventual major league status. In this, a dream not too far from becoming reality, Victoria can have no place.

BIG LEAGUE SHOW: There is no need to congratulate Archie McKinnon for that big testimonial dinner on Wednesday night. It was no more than he deserved, and his congratulations are for meriting it. However, despite all that has been written about the affair one would be remiss in not making some comment about what was one of this area's finer moments.

A testimonial dinner to mark Archie's 50th anniversary of association with the Victoria YMCA was a natural, and it was understandable that the Victoria Gyro Club would instigate the move to honor a member of which it is understandably proud, but the Gyro Club and all others who contributed in some way by suggestion or in organization can feel honestly proud of the manner in which it was handled.

From the thoughtfully intelligent selection of the head table right through Archie's ordeal (?) of shaking hands with each of the 400 people there, it was a big league show. Even chairman Don Ross' insistence that there was someone named Moore seated near him added to the evening, providing the lighter moments needed on occasions like this, where there is sometimes a tendency to become maudlin as everyone endeavors to say the "right" things and not all believe. But there was no threat of mawkish sentimentality on Wednesday, for the man the area honored had left no need of it. It was a sincere tribute, and sincerely rendered.

BANTUS HAVE THE IDEA: Professional spectator sports are becoming far too dignified. They were meant to provide fun, and be fun, and quite a lot went out of them when they began getting too businesslike and shortened the word professional to profession. Paid publicists now strive to get what was mainly given, handing out reams of copy concerned far too much with statistics and not enough with the individual, and thereby taking even more color out of proceedings.

Making the most out of the more colorful and adept stars is a sure way to build interest, and it's the individual more often than not that is followed by fans. It's always been a shame to me that fellows like Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Arnold Palmer, Eddie Shack, Maury Wills and Jim Piersall are known by Willie, Mickey, Arnie, Eddie, Maury and Jim. Far better something in the line of Rocket Richard, Boom Boom Geoffrion, Champagne Tony Lema, Big Train Conacher, Country Slaugher, Shoeless Joe Jackson, Dizzy Dean, Big Daddy Lipscomb and those wonderfully nick-named pitching brothers, Mudcat and Swamptire Grant.

But there's no such failing among the Bantus in South Africa, a nation (tribe?) which is beginning to produce athletes of international calibre. Some of the best-known, locally at least, are boxers like Kangaroo Maota and Axe-killer Ngidi, golfers like Bobby Locke Motati, Fiver Mazibuko and Shadrack Mdeni and soccer players like Kalamazoo Mokone, Excellent Mthembu, Mainline Khoza, Colourbar Mekgoe and City Council Mbyana. Those fellows have just got to have fan clubs.

Football Star Dead at 31

Did Dope Kill Big Daddy?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, a fun-loving goliath of professional gridirons for a decade, died Friday of unknown causes after a night on the town in his new yellow Cadillac convertible.

"There is definite suspicion that narcotics are involved in the death," Dr. Rudiger Breintecker, assistant medical examiner, said after a preliminary autopsy.

He said there were at least three needle marks above veins on both elbows of the 31-year-old Negro athlete. A homemade syringe was found near his unconscious form in a west Baltimore apartment and will be chemically tested.

Dr. Breintecker said the results will not be known before next week and until the autopsy is completed the cause of death remains undetermined.

"We were unable to find any obvious cause of death," he said. Preliminary tests showed no traces of narcotics in the syringe found near the body but that examinations of various body organs would take longer, he said.

Dr. Russell S. Fischer, chief medical examiner, said, "the presumption is that this man is dead as a result of an overdose of narcotics, and by that we mean heroin, possible accidentally injected."

A night time travelling companion, in whose apartment Lipscomb was found on the kitchen floor, told police "there had been drinking going on" and they had been with a couple of girls in the early-morning hours.

The companion, Timothy Black, 25, was being held by police for investigation in connection with the death. He was reported to have taken a lie detector test.

Lipscomb—6-feet 6 and 268 pounds—played defensive tackle for Los Angeles Rams, Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football League.

Lipscomb was one of the few players to reach the top grade in professional football without going to college. He went into the Marines out of Miller High school in his native Detroit.

The Rams picked him off a Marine team at Camp Pendleton, Calif., in 1953. After two years as a reserve, they let him go and the Colts took him for $100.

Big Daddy was a regular on a defensive crew variously called the Savage Six and Six Tons of Fun who helped carry the Colts to successive championships in 1958-59. Lipscomb was voted all-pro both times.

He liked to describe his play with an old football story: "I just grab me an armful of men, pick 'em over until I find the one with the ball, then I throw him down."

Then, typical of his showmanship, he'd solicitously help the dazed ball carrier to his feet, brush him off and head him toward his huddle. The crowds loved it.

They couldn't help noticing him. In addition to his size, he was best at sweeping across the line and nailing a ball carrier on the opposite side and out in the open for all to see. Then he'd stay prone, while the fans groaned "is he hurt?" before slowly climbing to his feet to wild applause.

Lipscomb took his acting ability on a professional wrestling tour in California in 1959 with Don Joyce, a former Colt.

The Colts unexpectedly traded Lipscomb to the Steelers on the first day of practice for the 1961 season.

'It Just Can't Be' Laments His Pal

BALTIMORE (AP) — Disbelief, tears, shock and praise followed the word Friday that football player Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb died.

One who knew him best was Buddy Young, who tried to keep Lipscomb on the straight and narrow with Baltimore Colts.

"It just can't be, it just can't be," were Buddy's first words on being told of Lipscomb's death. Young broke into tears, according to John F. Steadman, sports editor of the Baltimore News-Post and former publicity director for the Colts.

"I knew all the good things about Big Daddy and his weakness, too," Young told Steadman.

DRANK GOOD WHISKY

"He drank good whisky," admitted Young. "I can't believe he ever took dope. I refuse to accept that.

"Maybe he got to drinking and then somebody gave him a narcotic. He would not wilfully do it. He had the pride of an athlete and the pride of a man."

Ed Kiely, assistant general manager of Pittsburgh Steelers, echoed "I won't believe he ever voluntarily took drugs."

Steadman wrote of Lipscomb: "He was born into poverty, mistreated as a child and banged around by bullies in early years. He had some mistrust for people, but those he knew he believed and often asked for advice.

"He was so immense, always so alive and so ready to have the good time that he felt his impoverished childhood denied him."

How Tenpin Lanes Are Born

In less than three weeks this will be a tenpin bowling lane ready for play. Laminated bowling surface is put together in upright position and then laid on foundation and levelled to American Bowling Congress standards. When lanes are down, pinsetters and other machinery and fixtures will be installed and the $1,000,000, 40-lane Mayfair alleys will be ready for business. It should be on or about June 1.—(Robin Clarke)

Mets Win Five in Row

Pitchers Keep Big Bats Silenced

Hitters show signs of rebellion occasionally but this has been a pitchers' season in major league baseball, and never more so than in yesterday's full schedule of 10 games.

No less than 12 of the 20 starting pitchers, including four losers, finished what they started and five others didn't leave until the eighth inning, when needs dictated a pinch-hitter.

Curt Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched the seventh 1-0 shutout of the season. Juan Pizarro of the Chicago White Sox, Camilo Pascual of Minnesota Twins and Phil Regan of Detroit Tigers also blanked their opponents, making it 54 shutouts this season.

Dick Farrell of Houston Colts pitched the season's 12th two-hitter. Pizarro, Pascual, Regan and Wayne Lemaster all pitched three-hitters and when it was all toted up, the 10 losing teams managed but 11 runs and 48 hits yesterday.

Simmons, 5-0 with five complete games, nosed out Bob Friend of Pittsburgh Pirates when George Altman hit a ninth-inning home run. Pizarro didn't wait for help in his 2-0 blanking of Los Angeles Angels, providing his needed run with his first homer and then giving himself a little cushion with a run-scoring single.

Farrell had a perfect game going for six innings in his 4-1 conquest of the red-hot Chicago Cubs, lapsed as a single and triple gave the Cubs their run, then clamped down again. Rusty Staub, 18-year-old rookie, hit three singles and drove in two runs for the Colts.

Plenty of other things happened, too. New York Mets set a new club record with a fifth straight win, beating Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, when Jim Hickman hit an eighth-inning home run; New York Yankees had their record for the season balanced when they took a 6-3 beating from Baltimore Orioles; Don Drysdale won his first game in almost a month as Los Angeles Dodgers took San Francisco Giants, 2-1, and Dick McAuliffe hit a grand-slam homer and batted in six runs as the Tigers walloped Cleveland Indians, 14-0, in the only game that got out of hand.

When it was all over, the White Sox still led the American League with a one-game edge over the Orioles and the Cardinals were back in second place in the National League, one game behind the Giants, but there had been a tightening up, particularly in the National League, in pennant races which so far have failed to establish a club which deserves solid rating as a world series choice.

McLarens Open Softball Season

McLaren's Construction, who have taken over for Victoria Merchants, will open play in the Heywood Avenue men's softball league with a game against Esso Imperials at 2:30 Sunday.

The league will go with three clubs this season, Gorge Hotel and Navy abstaining. The third club, Sooke, will start play with a game against McLarens on Tuesday evening. Each club will play twice weekly with a 38-game schedule lasting until August 18 being played out on Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The three remaining clubs have all strengthened by picking up players from Gorge Hotel. Sooke has added Don Lyon to a pitching staff which also includes newcomer Dave Norman, Larry Jay and Glen Bullen; Imperials have acquired Barry Jackson to go with Glen Langsett and Gordie Houston on a powerful looking staff and McLarens have added pitcher Jeff Hett to go with Ken Oliphant and Rod Turner.

Calls It Day

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Glover turned down a contract Wednesday to continue as playing coach of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. He indicated he intends to retire as a player.

Glover, 35, with the Barons for 10 years and playing coach last season, is the leading scorer in AHL history.

UBC May Quit Conference

WINNIPEG (CP)—The University of British Columbia Friday served notice to the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union that it may withdraw from the organization after the 1963 season.

The suggestion was given as an alternative to a UBC request for a shortened season in football and basketball because of the financial burden of playing a double round-robin season in these sports.

The UBC request at the union's annual meeting here, asked that only a single round-robin season be played in these sports.

The other members of the organization turned down the suggestion and allowed UBC 30 days to either accept the full schedule or make firm their alternative.

The WCIAU is composed of the universities of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and representatives from the other universities agreed that each take full part in the union's activities or no part.

Last season was the first after a four-year withdrawal for Manitoba.

They withdrew in 1958, when they found the burden of financing football teams in the conference too great.

Bus Phillips, UBC athletic director, said in an interview that the university supports 15 sports not incorporated in the WCIAU schedules and it was found that basketball and football were draining too great an amount of money from these and the other sports activities of the university.

Memorial Cup Continues

Niagara Falls Stays

EDMONTON—The cold light of dawn brought sanity back into the riotous Memorial Cup scene Friday.

Thursday night Niagara Falls defeated Edmonton Oil Kings, 5-2, in the fifth game of the Canadian junior hockey final.

Following the game, Niagara Falls Hap Emms threatened to withdraw his team from the series (they trail 3-2), charging the Edmonton team with unnecessarily brutal play. He also took a run at CAHA president Art Potter and everybody else in sight.

Two of the Niagara Falls players have broken legs. Others have stitches in their heads, arms, legs and bruised ribs. Also, their feelings are hurt because the Edmonton press has been unkind, to put it mildly.

At one point in Thursday's game, a carton of sugar cubes (at today's prices?) and a box of plastic spoons were dumped from the visiting press members' box onto the Oil King coach 50 feet below.

The Edmonton Gardens' management threatened to bar the easterners from the box for tonight's sixth game.

But Friday, things were different. Emms and his players decided to continue with the series.

The person who did the dumping of sugar and spoons (unidentified) stepped forward and it was found that he wasn't an eastern press representative after all. He's been barred from the rink tonight.

If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played here Monday.

Jackie Gordon Given Release

Gordon, a former player for the Barons, has been with the club since 1951.

College Ball Gets Boost

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has announced a major league grant of $50,000 that would set up in the midwest a pilot league for college players from 13 states as a stepping stone to the majors.

To be known as the Central Illinois Collegiate League, it could be the forerunner of similar organizations throughout the United States.

Two Jockeys Hurt In Vancouver Spill

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-horse spill sent one jockey to hospital and marred the eighth race Friday night at Exhibition Park.

Jockey Levi Gomez was carried unconscious from the track after his mount, Pollys K.O., stumbled in the stretch. Flying Lupine also went down, throwing Tino Dominguez, but the jockey suffered only an ankle sprain.

There was no immediate report on the condition of Gomez in hospital.

SHIFTING GEARS

Many golfers have a problem shifting weight to their left foot immediately at the start of the downswing. Failure to shift gears to the left may produce sliced shots as well as a premature uncocking of the right arm and wrists, a primary cause of loss of distance.

The right knee can be a big help in switching weight to the left. Point this knee toward the ball at address (Illustration #1) and return it to this position early in the downswing (Illustration #2). Then let it follow the natural turn of the body on the follow-through (Illustration #3).

Using the knee this way will automatically force your weight to the left foot.

Flyers Switching To Kansas City?

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The director of municipal auditorium said Friday Detroit Red Wings have offered to instal ice in the auditorium for the rights to switch their Edmonton team to Kansas City and apply for entry in the Canadian Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The director, John Antonello, said two Detroit officials outlined proposals for bringing the team to Kansas City in a recent meeting here with the auditorium advisory committee. Since then, Antonello said, he has received a letter saying they will submit a written proposal to the committee.

The two Detroit officials are Lincoln Cavorelia, business manager, and Nick Londes, manager of the Detroit Olympia stadium.

If the Detroit proposal is approved by the auditorium committee, it would be submitted to the city council for final approval.

The auditorium would have a 8,200 seating capacity for hockey, Antonello said.

The Red Wings have sponsored Edmonton in the Western League. Reports of changes have been made and denied for the last two years. It also has been reported that Calgary will suspend operations in the WHL for next season.

Coach Charlie Rayner of Edmonton was in Kenora, Ont., and unavailable for immediate comment.

Officials of the Exhibition Association, which owns Flyers' franchise, made no direct comment, except to say the player shift report was speculation.

Jimmy Skinner, chief scout of Detroit which supplies Flyers with players, said the Calgary proposal to suspend operations for the next year was disturbing to his club.

"We certainly wish to continue in Edmonton," he said.

Boros' Hot Putter Matches Weather

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Julius Boros, former National Open golf champion whose last tournament victory came here in 1960, putted fabulously Friday for a four-under par 66 and took over the lead at 36 holes in the $60,000 Colonial National Invitation tournament.

His 137 gave him a two-stroke edge over Doug Sanders, the pace-setter at the end of the first round with a 67. Sanders posted a 72.

Boros, 43, said: "I am getting old and this heat bothered me some."

He was speaking of the temperatures that soared toward 100 degrees on the long 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, tournament favorite, managed a 69 for a 140 total and a tie for third place with Bruce Crampton, Bobby Nichols and Tony Lema. Crampton had a 69, Nichols a 67 and Lema a 69.

Arnold Palmer, defending champion, soared to a 75 and a 149 total. Gary Player shot a 71 and had a 144 total.

Al Johnston of Montreal was the low Canadian pro, also with a 144. He had rounds of 72-72. Al Balding of Toronto shot a 71 for 146, while Stan Leonard of Vancouver had a 73 for 147.

Lion Plan For Broncos Called Off

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions have come up with a bust in plans to stage a one-night football extravaganza here in July.

This was the idea:

Lions would play half a game against Western Conference rival Saskatchewan Roughriders. Then Lions would play another half against Denver Broncos of the American League.

Then Roughriders and Broncos would go at it for another 20 minutes.

But Lions' general manager, Herb Capozzi, who thought up the "merry-go-round," said Tuesday Denver had been denied permission by the AFL, because the July 26 date would have forced Broncos to play after only five days of training.

Capozzi said a straight Saskatchewan-B.C. exhibition game probably will be substituted for the same date.

Other pre-season games for Lions will be played against the Argonauts in Toronto July 17, and here Aug. 1 against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Fewer Fires But Care Still Needed

On the eve of National Forest Conservation Week, B.C. Friday reported 23 forest fires still burning and a total of 80 so far this year.

The figures were down slightly from last year but prompted Lands and Forests Minister Williston to issue a special plea calling for care in woods by campers, picnickers and smokers—a group blamed for one-quarter of all forest blazes.

Low hazards were reported for B.C.'s five forest districts.

JUNIORS' WEEK

The forest service sfid May 12 to 18 is also Junior Forest Wardens Week.

In Victoria the junior wardens will mark both events with activities aimed at focusing public attention on forest conservation.

Some 75 junior wardens are enrolled in Victoria between the ages of 10 and 15. They are taught basic forestry principles, conservation and woodsmanship.

Students Arrested

Yale Spring Lark Turns Into Riot

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale University erupted in an angry riot early Friday that took scores of nightstick-swinging policemen to bring under control.

Seventeen students were arrested during the melee which began as a spring lark and ended after police drove the students back to their rooms.

RUSHED STUDENT

Five policemen rushed a student spotted near the scene of a fire-cracker explosion and beat him with nightsticks. The student was dragged to the street where he was tossed over a trunk of a car and pummelled.

The student apparently escaped serious injury.

SCALP CUTS

Another student was treated at a hospital for scalp lacerations which his friends said were inflicted by a police nightstick. This student was one of the 17 arrested.

About 300 students carried one of their classmates wrapped in tissue paper before them and chanted: "Evil! Evil! as they marched toward Helen Hadley Hall, a dormitory for women graduate students.

"We want sex, we want sex," they cried as they pounded the building. The girls just looked out the windows and smiled.

The students then moved toward the Taft Hotel, a few blocks away, with many upperclassmen joining their ranks.

As the front ranks approached the hotel, police began herding the students back toward the old campus.

City Cadets Special Choices

Two Victoria air cadets, both members of 39 Kinsmen Squadron, have been selected for special training courses this summer.

FS R. J. Jupp, Milnes Landing, has been awarded an RCAF flying scholarship.

He will take 35 hours' flying training at the Victoria Flying Club in a five-week course. Upon completion he will receive his air cadet wings and private pilot licence.

Cpl. Edward McLean, 3038 Oakdowne, will attend a seven-week senior leaders' training course at RCAF station, Camp Borden, Ont.

Prospect Charges Fly

Old Drums Used As Septic Tanks Lake Polluted

Old oil drums are being used for septic tanks at some Prospect Lake summer cottages, a resident there charged yesterday.

"Some people just put a fuel drum on the lakeshore and run a pipe into one end and a pipe out the other into the lake," complained a woman who asked that her name be withheld.

"Many people here feel that Saanich should require some to fix up their tanks which are not up to standard, before councillors start talking about chlorinating the water," she said.

LOOK INTO IT

Coun. Gregory Cook, chairman of the health and welfare committee, said later that "we will certainly look into this. These people have to live with the situation until fresh water is brought in."

He said he will discuss the matter with the municipal engineer and look into the oil drum septic tank complaint because "the facilities should be up to the required standard."

WATER CONTAMINED

There have been widespread reports that the lake water is contaminated by septic tank effluent to the point where another source of drinking water should be found for the residents.

Saanich public works committee soon will deal with a report from health officials on this point.

IMPLIED UNFIT

It is believed that this report, not yet available for publication, will imply that the water is unfit for drinking purposes, without coming out and saying that is the case at Prospect Lake.

Fire Hits Basement

Fire destroyed two pieces of furniture and a window in a basement bedroom at the house of A. C. Deveson, 2850 Wyndeatt, Thursday.

Saanich firemen, who extinguished the blaze without difficulty, attributed it to a short circuit.

Laos Bid Vetoed

LONDON (UPI) — Russia vetoed a new Western peace bid for Laos Friday and Britain formally charged the Communists are "persistently and plainly" frustrating the Geneva Laotian settlement.

The toughening Soviet stand and the sharp British reaction emerged from an exchange of diplomatic notes released by the foreign office Friday night.

The Soviets vetoed the British-U.S. backed plan to station the International Control Commission inspectors in the Plain of Jarres, where pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces attacked the neutralist troops of Prince Souvana Phouma, Laos premier.

The Soviets demanded withdrawal of Indian and Canadian members of the International Control Commission who went to the Plain of Jarres despite the opposition of the Polish members of the commission.

SOVIET INTERFENCE

Britain, in a note to Moscow, rejected this demand and charged the Soviets with interference in Laos. The note added that the refusal of the Pathet Lao to allow the commission to visit areas under its control "was a clear attempt to frustrate the proper working of the Geneva agreement."

City Dog Best In Show

A Victoria-owned dog was judged best-in-show on the first day of the two-day all-breed championship show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association last night in the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Can.-Am. Ch. Kee Ting China's Toni, a Pekinese owned by Mrs. Carita Grieves, was also named best Canadian-bred in show; best Canadian-bred puppy was Cavalcade's Centurion owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. McCoy also of Victoria.

Other results:

Sporting—Muller [illegible] Kane, Mr. and Mrs. A. Westland, Washington State; sporting hounds—[illegible] Sunnydune Dean [illegible], Peter Leggs, New Westminster; working dogs—Latham's [illegible], Mrs. A. Latham and Don [illegible], Portland, Ore.; terriers—[illegible] Vassaire Contessa, Tommy [illegible], Victoria; non-sporting—Mideset Firebrand, Mr. and Mrs. F. [illegible], Beaverton, Ore.

Mrs. W. M. Landymore presented the trophies.

Judges for the show were George Donaldson of Victoria and Vincent Perry of Canoga Park, Calif.

Show Dogs Aren't All Show

A tracking dog proved last night that show dogs aren't all show.

One of the contestants at the Esquimalt Sports Centre dog show, Mossbank Merry Majorette, owned by Mrs. Mary Bates, of Victoria, was put to the practical test and came out a winner.

Mrs. R. S. Thuilliers, one of the exhibitors at the show, lost her car key in the large playing field beside the sports centre.

She didn't have time to look for the key before the show started, and three hours later, when it was over, the field had been mowed and watered.

She called in her friend's dog, gave it the scent, and it went straight to the lost key.

Craft Art On Display

The broad scope of the term "art" is shown in a new display at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria where 43 craftsmen are demonstrating arts ranging from wood carving to weaving.

Arranged by the women's committee of the art gallery, the display will be open again this afternoon between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

$4,000 Stolen

Thieves stole more than $4,000 in clothing from John McMaster's store at 1012 Fort overnight Thursday, police said.

Missing were 61 men's suits, four topcoats, four car coats, one dozen raincoats 10 pairs of slacks, 21 women's suits and 27 coats and $4 in cash. The loss was not insured.

Parents May Build Their Own Overpass

NANAIMO—The never-say-die parents of children attending Mount Benson School may build their own overpass at the intersection of Jingle Pot Road and the Island Highway.

The parents have been prodding the provincial government by letter, delegation and demonstration to either build an overpass or an underpass at the intersection to protect their children.

Thursday night the Mount Benson Parent-Teacher Association authorized the local safety committee to investigate the cost of constructing an overpass with a view to building one at the expense of local residents.

Early this year, a six-year-old boy was killed at the intersection. The mothers, mostly from Wellington, have approached MLA Dan Campbell repeatedly about an overpass and were told a plan is on the drawing board.

Not satisfied, the mothers took to carrying large placards and personally escorting their youngsters over the crossing.

The latest move was described by PTA chairman Frank Murphy as the only alternative.

"We either wait, try to force the government's hand or build one ourselves," he said.

Mr. Murphy said he didn't know how the money would be raised. He suggested it might be done as a local improvement through taxation or by a fund-raising drive.

OFFICIAL RAPPED

Mothers at the meeting also criticized the highways official at the crossing, saying he sits in his car and only operates the signal when a large group of children have gathered.

Trailer Handy For Paintings

When Victoria artist Alice Carey is invited to exhibit her paintings outside the city, transportation of 40 canvases presents no problem.

When she received two out-of-town invitations, Miss Carey acquired a small trailer (to suit her small car), and had it adapted with a lift-roof to hold the paintings.

Then, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Whiteley of Victoria, she headed for the Vernon Art Association's Exhibition, and to Salmon Arm where she exhibited her work and conducted an artists' workshop.

The trailer worked fine.

Next week Miss Carey packs again—all water colors, this time—for an exhibition at the Charles and Emma Frye Art Museum, Seattle, from May 15 to 31.

During that show, Miss Carey will return to Victoria for a one-day show at St. Martin's-in-the-Field parish hall, Obed Avenue, on May 24.

The parish hall is not so far from Miss Carey's studio, at 430 Gorge West—but the trailer will still be useful.

Five Cadet Corps Take Part In Church Parade on Sunday

Five Greater Victoria cadet corps will participate in the opening of the seventh annual Tri-Service Cadet Week on Sunday with a church parade to the sports field of Victoria High School.

The corps will fall in at Herald and Douglas Streets and follow a route along Douglas, Yates, Quadra, Pandora, Camosun and Grant, ending at the high school.

Brig. E. D. Danby, of Vancouver, officer commanding the B.C. area, will take the salute at a march past prior to the drumhead service on the field.

CORPS TAKE PART

Corps participating will be the Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadets, PPCLI Cadets, Canadian Scottish Cadets, RCEME Cadets and the 89th Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron.

Lunch will be served on the field at 1 p.m., followed by a track and field program, after which trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

Each cadet corps will carry out a sunset ceremony outside the legislative buildings in rotation during the week.

The week's activities will close with a United Cadet Services Ball, on May 18.

Navy Greets Public Today

Today is Navy Day.

Between 1:30 and 5 p.m. visitors will be welcome at HMC Dockyard, HMCS Naden and at the naval air station, Patricia Bay.

* * *

Ships from all major squadrons will be open to the public. The destroyer-escorts HMCS Margaree and Skeena will be berthed at "A" jetty in Dockyard. The frigates HMCS Beacon Hill and Jonquiere will be tied up at "B" jetty.

At "C" jetty, fleet maintenance vessel HMCS Cape Breton will also hold open house for visitors.

At HMCS Naden exhibits will be on display at the engineering division, weapons and trades theory section. Most of the school's classes and shops will be open for inspection.

* * *

Firefighting equipment will be on display at the Dockyard fire station. Special rescue demonstrations are to be staged at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Throughout the afternoon a fire tug in harbor will operate pumps and monitors.

The comedy float "Esquimalt Queen" will be on display immediately inside Dockyard main gate.

* * *

The RCN's mobile Explosive Education Program truck will be on display near the Dockyard fire station.

There will be continuous bus service between Naden and Dockyard with stops at the Maritime Museum.

Visitors will be welcomed in naval armament, electrical, plate and boiler, plastic, and diesel and machine shops in Dockyard.

* * *

Navy harbor craft will take tours of Esquimalt harbor. The tours will include Yarrows Ltd. shipyard; government graving dock; Seaward Defence jetty; fueling jetty, and will give participants a look at the upper reaches of the harbor and historic Fisgard lighthouse at the entrance to the harbor.

At Patricia Bay a variety of aircraft, both flying and on the ground, will be on display, including the HUP-3 helicopter and the T-33 high-speed jet target-towing plane.

* * *

A fire-rescue and flying demonstration will be given. There will be a series of movies and a firefighting display.

For the kiddies there will be a novelty "mule" and trailer ride. Ice cream and light refreshments will be available at a mobile canteen.

Getting ready to leave on 11-month tour of United States as professional skater with Ice Follies is Janet Stenstrom, 20, of 2460 Cardigan, who landed job with follies during visit to show last weekend in Seattle.—(Bud Kinsman)

Pedestrian Head Count

Important City Survey Downtown May 23

City hall officials are hoping for at least reasonably good weather May 23, an important day.

They have already gone to considerable trouble to ensure no stores have scheduled sales so that, as far as possible, that Thursday will be just another shopping day.

Why should they bother? May 23 has been picked for the annual survey of pedestrian traffic in the downtown area. Some 100 casual employees are being hired to count heads.

GOOD INDICATION

The results will aid the assessor's department in fixing downtown rental values and also give a good indication of parking habits on an average weekday.

One hundred stations have been established in the middle of every block in an area roughly bounded by Herald, Government, Humboldt and Quadra. Each will be manned by one temporary city employee with a small hand counter.

SYSTEM DEVISED

For any variations in pedestrian traffic due to weather, which the past few years have shown to be unpredictable in the extreme, a percentage system has been devised.

The busiest block, say, for example, on Douglas Street outside one of the major department stores, usually has a traffic count of between 1,800 and 2,000 pedestrians an hour. This, for purposes of the survey, is taken as 100 per cent.

WHERE PEOPLE

Counts in less busy blocks are converted to percentages of this. The results are used by assessors to determine where the most people are, as an aid in establishing rental values.

The survey has shown a small but steady increase in downtown pedestrian traffic in recent years.

Park Getting Walkie-Talkies

Walkie-talkies should be in operation in Beacon Hill Park by June 1, Ald. Millard Mooney said last night.

City council has approved expenditure of $1,800 for the walkie-talkie radios.

An additional commissionaire is to be put on duty during daylight hours for the next few months.

Ready in July

City Captains For Cutters

Two Victoria men have been named masters of the first two west coast cutters of the new Canadian Coast Guard.

They are Capt. J. A. Strand, 1884 Haultain, now skipper of the northern supply ship Camsell, and Capt. W. A. Arthur, 587 O'Connell, master of the weather ship Stonetown.

New ships will be the Ready and the Racer.

One of the new ships is being built at Yarrows in Victoria and the other at Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

The one at Yarrows has a delivery date of July 15.

After commissioning, one of the ships will be based in the Gulf of Georgia, the other will patrol the west coast of Vancouver Island and the northern area.

'Y' Drive Reaches $706,095

Building fund for the projected YM-YWCA reached $706,095 Friday — "breaking," as chairman Hugh Stephen said, "the $700,000 barrier."

The total, he said, included municipal gifts announced during the week and since confirmed: $30,000 from Saanich and $20,000 from Oak Bay.

OPTIMISTIC

"We are optimistic of reaching our objective," Mr. Stephen said. "We are still looking for a more active response from individual donors within the Greater Victoria area, from those who benefitted, or whose families will benefit, by the work of the Y."

Art Jury Said No

Among 260 paintings not accepted by jury of three in current Vancouver Island Jury Show is Yellow Maple by Victoria painter Mrs. P. M. Luchinsky who charged amateur painters are being infringed by "professional standard" demanded by Vancouver jurors.

Visit to Skating Pals Brings Follies Job

A Victoria girl who will start out on the professional ice skating circuit this summer, will never get a chance to perform for her home-town audience.

Janet Stenstrom, 20, of 2460 Cardigan, took a trip to Seattle last weekend to visit friends who were there performing in the Ice Follies, and ended up landing a job in the show.

* * *

Born in Victoria, Janet attended Oak Bay High School and has been skating for 12 years. She taught professionally in Quesnel and Williams Lake last year.

Now she faces a rigid routine of skating and travelling which will take her to the far corners of the United States and to Montreal and Toronto, but never to Victoria.

* * *

Janet went to Seattle to visit two girl friends, Berna Pedneault and Susan Dillibough, also from Victoria, who then talked her into auditioning for the show.

She was accepted, and reports to the San Francisco training camp June 18 for a three-month stint of practice and learning new routines.

Then she will take part in the show's grand opening in Los Angeles on Sept. 1.

* * *

Besides her love of skating, Janet is looking forward to the travel opportunities her new job affords.

"We'll be visiting most major cities in the United States," she said. "They give us a day off to see each town before we open, so I'll get a pretty good idea of what the country looks like.

* * *

"We'll travel by train and spend a week and a half to two weeks in each city. Besides a month's holiday in the spring, we get a week off at Christmas, so I'll have a few chances to visit my folks while I'm travelling," she said.

"I've always enjoyed skating," she said, "but it's really the excitement of the whole thing I'm looking forward to now."

CFAX Seeks Power Boost

Victoria radio station CFAX has applied for permission to increase its power from 1,000 watts to 10,000 watts, it was announced Friday.

The station, which broadcasts during daylight hours only, is awaiting a decision on its application from the Board of Broadcast Governors.

But Yearning Wins a Prize

This is prize-winning painting by Victoria painter Nita Forrest—it won $50—at current Vancouver Island Jury Show, and is called Yearning. A Victoria woman painter charged too many abstract paintings are favored while Art Gallery curator Colin Graham says trend in painting today is toward abstract. — (Bud Kinsman)

Explosions Next Week North of Island

Vancouver Island will rock ever so slightly 23 times next week as federal scientists set off deep-water explosions off the north shore of the Island.

The tremors will be too slight to be felt by a person standing on the shore nearest the explosions, in 100 fathoms of water, but participating scientists hope they will be recorded by seismographs located at Rock Bay near Seymour Narrows, Alberni, Courtenay, Nanoose Bay, Ladysmith and in the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain.

* * *

The survey, to investigate the nature of the earth's crust around Vancouver Island, is under the direction of Dr. W. R. H. White of the observatory staff.

For each explosion 10 obsolete depth charges, equal to 3,000 pounds of high explosive, will be dropped to the ocean floor and exploded electrically from a launch overhead.

* * *

Purpose of exploding the charge in deep water is to concentrate as much of the force on the earth as possible. The weight of 100 fathoms of water above the explosion does this.

Extremely precise electronic "clocks" will be used by scientists aboard the launch and at each seismograph station.

CNAV Laymore, an RCN auxiliary ship, has been made available for the operation.

* * *

First six explosions will be set off Monday, another six Tuesday and Wednesday and five more on Thursday.

A warning to mariners to stay away from the specific areas has been issued by the department of transport.

Emergency Meeting Called About Gosley

An emergency meeting of the Victoria Theatre Guild will be held this month to discuss the action of the board of directors which resulted in the Jerry Gosley Smile Show not using the guild's theatre, and the expulsion of a guild member.

A petition requesting the meeting has been signed by 20 members, Richard Litt, 2366 Zela, said last night. It was organized by Mr. Litt and Charles Morriss, 1930 Crescent.

SEVERAL YEARS

Mr. Gosley's Smile Show has been held in the Langham Court Theatre for several years. Following a decision of the board to renegotiate the contract, Mr. Gosley announced he would stage the show elsewhere.

A long-time member and former director, Mrs. Vera Trueman, 967 Island Road, was recently expelled by the board of directors after she publicly criticized the board.

SAME CONDITIONS

Gerald Guest, president of the guild, announced Thursday another British-style entertainer, Arthur Budd, has accepted rental of the theatre under the conditions offered to Mr. Gosley.

The petition asked the board for a statement of the reasons for non-appearance of Mr. Gosley's show and for Mrs. Trueman's expulsion.

"I have no doubt that when the meeting is held it will be resolved to the satisfaction of all," Mr. Litt said.

Cafe Rule Backed

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said yesterday he is willing to accept the principle that each new owner must make application for licence to operate an eating place.

He was commenting on the reply received from metro health authorities to his inquiry regarding procedure in obtaining permission to operate a restaurant.

RULES PROVIDED

Senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said in a letter received at city hall yesterday that all regulations and standards are provided to persons planning to open restaurants.

Dr. Whitbread added: "We would point out that when a restaurant or cafe closes as a result of inadequate and unsatisfactory equipment and construction, the sale of this building does not entitle the buyer to consider that he has any entitlement to a licence . . .

NEED NEW LICENCE

"It will necessitate the issue of a new licence, therefore the standards must be met before recommendation of such a licence can be given (by health authorities.)"

Ald. McLean asked for explanation of licensing procedures for restaurants when former alderman Elmer McEwen complained that he could not find out what he had to do to obtain an operating licence for a restaurant he planned to open.

SEEMS FAIR

"It seems quite fair to me that there should be no transfer of licences," Ald. McLean said. "But Mr. McEwen may not accept Dr. Whitbread's explanation. Mr. McEwen's basic argument was that restaurants already in operation are given time to bring facilities up to standard."

Nature House Open

The Nature House at Francis Park will be open Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and conducted tours will be available during the day.

Park Painting Classes Resume Here July 2

Annual Painting in the Parks courses for school children will begin again July 2 for a six-week season.

Registrations can be made by phoning Mrs. Bryan Mee at GR 9-6843. Registration forms will be distributed to schools in Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula next week.

The $10 fee provides each student with painting and drawing supplies and pays the cost of professional teachers.

Some 250 children enrolled for the course last year and about 50 of them have left their portfolios at Mrs. Mee's home. They have until the end of the month to claim them.

Paris Attractions Not All Expensive

By NORA MARTIN

PARIS (TNS)—Tourism is an even bigger industry in France than champagne, perfume or fashions. Last year tourists spent some $565,000,000 in this country, bringing tourism almost up to the importance of the steel industry.

Now that President Charles de Gaulle's clean-up campaign has washed away hundreds of years of grey "atmosphere and culture," the city, complete with chestnut trees in bloom, crazy traffic and l'amour, is now ready for the tourists.

Visitors will find that Paris looks richer than ever. Shops are bursting with luxury things making life pleasant if one has lots of hard cash. Most of the attractions of Paris are known and have been widely publicized. However, there are some less known pleasures tourists can experience for free or little money.

* * *

To see one of the daily fashion shows in the famed Paris Haute Couture houses one has to have an invitation. But the "boutiques," such as the downstairs shop at Dior's for instance, gives the true high fashion flavor almost as well. One can walk into these elegant boutiques just like into a department store, hunting around, buying or just looking.

Don't miss buying French bread at least once. Those long, thin loaves called "baguette" look as if they were sold by the yard. They are delicious, but only when very fresh. Tourists should try a favorite French picnic snack: camembert cheese, red wine and a French baguette.

* * *

Incidentally, the French say that the colors in their flag, blue-white-red, stand for the blue sky, red wine and white bread in France.

To visit the Louvre Museum in Paris is, of course, on most tourists' "must list." What many tourists don't know is that there is a gallery called Braun near the Paris Opera where one can buy extremely good reproductions of works of old and modern masters which are properties of the world's finest museum.

This gallery's motto is "a museum in your own home" and Braun's reproductions are among the best available in Paris, used also by UNESCO and the New York Graphic Society. The reproductions of French impressionists are best-sellers. But perfect prints of old masters may be just as interesting for art-lovers.

* * *

As for the French people themselves, one American guide book describes them as "loyal friends but occasionally hard enemies." I know from years of personal experience that they are gay and witty, often noble and always exciting, occasionally maddening, but never boring. There is one thing about the French: don't expect them to be hospitable in the American way.

It's easy enough to get to know Frenchmen, to talk to them and perhaps even meet their family, but outside their homes. It takes months, if not years of a carefully nourished friendship to be invited into a French family. You see, more than the English, the French still believe that "their home is their castle."

Canadiana Questioned

MONTREAL (CP) — Antoine Prevost, curator and co-founder of the Jacques de Chambly historical village 15 miles from here, warns the lyre collector to think twice before buying "old" items. He said the beginner should first find out what Canadiana really is.

Guild Holds Birthday Anniversary

Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild recently held a birthday tea at Dingle House. Mrs. George Anstey, the president, welcomed Mrs. J. L. White who had been the founder of the guild over 30 years ago, and Miss Kathleen Agnew, honorary president, who is an ardent supporter of the guild.

Mrs. J. L. White, Mrs. G. L. Robertson, Miss F. Daniels and Mrs. H. Steggles poured tea. Mrs. Hazel Hodson cut the birthday cake.

The beauty of the Dingle House rooms added greatly to the enjoyment of the party. Mrs. Armson, the hostess of Dingle House, delighted everyone by giving a sketch of the history of the old house and its owners, and telling something of her joy in restoring it in keeping with its original state.

New

Consumer Magazine

TORONTO (CP)—Initial results of product tests by the Consumers Association of Canada will be known next month with the release of the first issue of a new Canadian consumer magazine.

Mrs. A. F. W. Plumptre of Ottawa, national CAC president, said the magazine will be published six times a year and will be a digest size.

The new publication will replace the present CAC monthly bulletin, and will not be on sale to the general public.

"When we put it up to 12 issues a year and when it is large enough, then it can be put on the newsstands, when we can sell it for less than 60 cents a copy," said Mrs. Plumptre.

She told the Ontario organization's annual meeting the first issue will contain articles dealing with two tests and the results of a survey, but declined to say what products are involved.

Low Trunks

For male charmers, Paris designer Pierre Cardin says, bathing trunks should be worn low, be brief and in masculine colors. The new Cardin bathing pants for men have wide "cowboy belts" slung low around the hips. Colors include burgundy red, olive green, navy blue and tobacco brown.

Truck Driver Will Marry Wealthy Deb

LONDON (CP)—The way has finally been cleared for Canadian truck driver Peter Doran to marry wealthy debutante Elizabeth Rhys, whose on-again, off-again romance started almost two years ago.

"We are getting married within the next few months," said Miss Rhys, niece of Lord Dynevor and a descendant of the Duke of Wellington, after Doran's 24-year-old wife was granted a divorce recently.

Miss Rhys, a sports car enthusiast and friend of Princess Alexandra, met the 30-year-old Doran at an all-night roadside canteen in October, 1961.

But shortly after they announced their engagement, three weeks later, Doran's wife showed up. They had been married in 1956 and have a five-year-old son. They parted three years ago.

The divorce was granted because of Doran's misconduct but his lawyer told the court "the lady in the engagement is not the woman named in the suit."

Mrs. Tessa Doran's suit named Mrs. Blanche Stevens, not further identified.

Doran, a native of Vancouver, was helping his uncle run a transport business at the time he met Miss Rhys, daughter of the honorable David and Lady Anne Rhys of Berkshire.

After the divorce Miss Rhys said: "Now we can marry and make a life together — my mother is pleased."

Said Doran: "I believe it will take about three months for the decree to become absolute. Elizabeth and I will be married as soon after that as we can."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I always thought this country was a democracy but it is getting more like Russia every day. Yesterday our principal made a long-winded speech about boys and girls walking in the halls with their arms around each other's waists.

What's so terrible about a couple who is going steady walking that way? Since when is it indecent or immoral to put your arms around somebody you love?

The old fossil also said he didn't want to see any fellows with blond peroxide streaks in their hair. This is another step toward dictatorship. A lot of kids who go steady have matching streaks which is sort of a fad to let people know they belong to each other.

Will you please take this up in your column IF YOU ARE ON OUR SIDE. If you aren't on our side, skip it. —LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL.

Dear Patrick Henry: Since you seem to favor freedom, I will express myself—even though I'm not on your side.

Walking with arms around waists is out of place in school corridors. People who have respect for each other keep their hands to themselves in public. Genuine affection doesn't need an audience.

Blond peroxide streaks for boys are revolting. I've seen some of these streaked characters and they resemble polecats.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I was one of those foolish girls who fell for a guy's looks. He was the spitting image of Rory Calhoun and I thought I'd die from excitement whenever he smiled at me.

I chased Bart for three years. I bought my own wedding ring and carried it in my purse until I caught him in a weak moment. A Justice of the Peace married us one night last January. Bart was so plastered he could hardly stand up through the ceremony.

Now I'm pregnant. He comes home whenever he feels like it, which is anywhere from midnight to 3 a.m. He doesn't chase with women, he spends his time at his mother's house. She still treats him like a nine-year-old.

I've begged him to stay home like a husband should but it's no use. Please tell me what to do. I'm ready to take the gas pipe.—SHERRY.

Dear Sherry: Get off your knees and stop acting like you're honored to have this jerk around.

Insist that he go home to his mother until he's ready to come back and behave like an adult. And remind him to drop the support checks in the mail. If you doormat wives would get off the floor your husbands would have more respect for you.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: This is a touchy one. We need the advice of someone who is not in the immediate family circle.

A close relative has been studying with a professional and has become a sculptress. She presented our son and daughter-in-law with one of her favorite pieces as a wedding gift. The young couple know a good bit about art and they don't want to use it in their home. My husband feels they should not be pressured into it.

I say the woman's feelings are at stake and it would be a crushing insult if they didn't use the piece of art. May we hear from you? —FAMILY FIREWORKS.

Dear Fireworks: It will not kill the couple to display the sculpture for a few weeks. It would be especially generous of them to have the piece displayed when the sculptress comes to call.

Most people rotate art. They could easily rotate this particular piece to the attic after a few weeks.

VON Expands Nursing Care

WINDSOR, Ontario — The Victorian Order of Nurses has expanded its interest in plans which provide continuity of nursing care between the hospital and the home, Miss Jean C. Leask, director in chief, reported to the board of governors at the annual meeting here. Fifty branches now provide a hospital referral service and five branches are participating in organized home care programs. Other communities have indicated an interest in these developments and the V.O.N. is active on local planning committees.

Last year the Victorian Order of Nurses made 1,100,000 visits to patients in their homes across Canada. This was an increase of 7,000 visits over the previous year made in 117 branches, a number of which had extended their service to surrounding territory. In reporting a permanent staff of over 650 nurses, Miss Leask stressed the need for highly qualified personnel for care in the home.

"The skill, understanding and enthusiasm which the nurse brings to her work is our most valuable commodity."

Mr. Joseph Jeffery, OBE, QC, of London was re-elected president at the 65th annual meeting of the order which was attended by over 200 members of the board of governors and staff. Vice-presidents are Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, Ottawa; Mr. Charles E. Frost, Montreal and Mr. W. E. Williams, Toronto. Mr. Stuart Thom, Q.C. of Toronto is chairman of the board of management.

Delegates attending from Victoria include Mrs. Fred Norris, board of governors, and Miss Elizabeth Riddell, Mr. S. B. McCafferty, president, V.O.N. for British Columbia.

Officers Elected

Mrs. Phyllis Hunter was named president of the Victoria Ladies' Curling Club at the annual meeting held in the Quadra Street clubrooms.

Vice-president is Mrs. Mary Cleland and secretary is Mrs. Nina Olson. Mrs. Joan Turner is treasurer.

Mrs. Ruth Jackson, retiring president, received a past president's pin. Mrs. Norah Dunstan, life member, was appointed zone representative and Mrs. Thelma Cook, auditor for the new year.

Jubilee Wing Open June 15

The new wing of the Royal Jubilee Hospital will be opened on June 15, at 11 a.m., it was announced by Mr. George Masters, administrator, at the recent monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary held at the nurses' residence, Mrs. R. W. Campbell, president, in the chair.

On behalf of the auxiliary Mrs. W. A. Trenholme was asked to present a cheque for $5,000 to Mr. Masters for the furnishing of the new wing's foyer. Mr. Masters expressed the appreciation of the hospital for the generous gift and added that this would be the first time in 50 years that the hospital had had a "proper front door," worthy of such an institution. He also commented on the setting up by the auxiliary of a new gift shop to be staffed and maintained together with the already-established mobile shop by members of the auxiliary. New smocks have been chosen for the volunteer workers.

Mrs. F. Bartholomew reported that 80 flower arrangements had been distributed to patients during the month of April.

Tea was served after the meeting.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Should a philosopher not be expected to live up to his philosophy? Of course he should. Otherwise he is a hypocrite. He pretends to be what he is not and the practice of his life makes his profession of faith a lie. This is one of the major problems of a preacher.

Jerome is right in demanding that the minister of Christ should have his tongue, his heart and his hand agree. But how can he? Indeed, "A man's reach must exceed his grasp or what's a Heaven for?"

But a man must be sincere in his dedication to practise what he professes. For a greedy man to profess generosity, a lustful man to profess purity, a selfish man to profess love or a proud man to profess humility, is to bring his confession of faith into contempt.

Now since it is obviously impossible to live with the perfection of Christ some people find an escape hatch in the new hypocrisy which pretends to be virtuous because it makes no profession. "See what a good fellow I am," says the adulterer, "because I don't pretend to be pure." A woman says proudly, "I'm no saint," as if this self-deprecation were a virtue. Jung tells how a man became disillusioned with himself, decided he was quite a mess and should not pretend to virtue, so deliberately launched into a career of wild living.

Beware False Humility

To under-value ourselves, to ridicule or deprecate a virtue we possess, is false humility. Only as we see them as gifts and not attainments, as bestowals of the Grace of God and are grateful for them, considering them as privileges and responsibilities and not merits, can we escape a form of obnoxious spiritual pride.

The secret is the Grace of God, but it requires in us single-mindedness and utter loyalty. To be double-minded is debilitating for we do not give our whole heart to anything, are distracted and weakened. The Bible is full of instructions to "walk in love," "walk in the light," "follow Me," "be doers of the Word and not hearers only." James was quite right in maintaining that faith without works is dead. Jesus was disgusted with people who said "Lord, Lord" and did not do the things which He commanded.

Then is not our whole society shot through with this hypocrisy? We boast of our democracy, call ourselves "a Christian country," yet our society is controlled by covetousness, our agencies of communication are vulgar, our literature is filled with obscenity, and the motives of living are envious, selfish, and lustful. Do we not give the Communists an opportunity to jeer, "You pretend to be so much better than we are—spiritual, truthful, and filled with brotherly love? Don't you think you have more than a little hypocrisy?"

Special Family Night

A special Family Night program will be held at Emmanuel Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Sunday in place of the usual evening service.

The special activities, to be held in the Fellowship Hall, Fernwood and Gladstone, will include selections by the church orchestra, a display of handicrafts and a film on Sylvan Acres Baptist camp.

Silent Spring 'War'

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Seems to me that the gardening fraternity is always being split right down the middle into irreconcilable factions every time a new technique or development occurs. For years now there has been something pretty close to a shooting war between the gardeners who buy their plant food in paper sacks and the muck-and-compost nature boys who would never deign to "poison" their soil with "filthy" chemicals.

Right now, the hoe-happy members of the community are at loggerheads again, this time splitting into pro-"Silent Spring" and anti-"Silent Spring" armed camps. I can't think of any book which has created so much gardening controversy since Edward Faulkner wrote Plowman's Folly.

* * *

Personally, I have always been a middle-of-the-road old fuddy-duddy in such matters, and I might say that it takes unusual acrobatic ability to sit on the fence with one ear to the ground. In the matter of the manure vs. fertilizer debate, I have always used both, for they perform two entirely different functions, and to my mind, they go together like ham and eggs. The bulky organic materials provide aeration and improve the texture of the soil, while chemical fertilizer is the cheapest and most convenient way to supply nutrients to our plants.

In the matter of insecticides, I find myself on the same unexciting middle ground. I agree with Rachel Carson to the extent that I think it is bad business to go squirting bug poison all over the place, but by the same token, I can't see that we should sit idly by and watch the aphids sucking the life blood out of our roses and the flea bettle making lace curtains out of the turnip leaves. Use the stuff where you have to, and at the right strength and at the right time.

* * *

Nowhere is this policy of moderation more needed than in the battle against the soil-inhabiting pests. As you know, some pests feed entirely upon the above-ground portions of our plants; others live at least one phase of their life in the soil, attacking the underground parts, some making occasional forays against the leaves and stems. Against the latter class we have a whole armory of potent chemicals — aldrin, dieldrin, heptachlor, chlordane, ethion and the like. DDT is used against both underground and topgrowth pests.

When a gardener is sorely afflicted with one of these soil pests—cutworms, onion maggots, carrot rust fly maggots or root aphids—he will often write to me asking what chemical he can use to broadcast over his whole plot, with the intention of making a clean sweep of his particular pest, lock, stock and barrel.

Such a broadcast application is not at all a good idea. Not only would it be very expensive, but recent research in England indicates that such wholesale use of anything strong enough to kill cutworms and grubs would also eradicate the "friendly" bugs and grubs that feed upon the pests and help control their spread. Most likely the bird population would suffer as well.

* * *

Such a plot, cleared of the pest's natural enemies, is left wide open for the next infestation that comes along, for the pests multiply faster and develop resistance more readily than the predators, and you can easily wind up worse off than before.

By all means use a seed dressing to protect your emerging plants against flea bettle. Use Cutworm Dust, Onion Maggot Dust, aldrin, DDT, heptachlor or chlordane, but use it ONLY in the rows, NOT in the alleys between the rows. In this way the balance of nature is not upset to anything like the same extent.

CHARLES McDOWELL Meets Angry American

Let's Look Ahead in Anger

We came upon the neighborhood's angriest man in the drugstore. He was seated at the counter on his favorite stool, seething into a milkshake. He is always mad.

"Hello," we said.

"The Kennedys are ruining the country," he replied, using his standard greeting.

"You always say that. What is it this time?"

"Do I need something new?" he snorted. "There are too many confounded Kennedys, and they are building a confounded dynasty, and they hate business, and they don't know what to do about Cuba, and they get too much publicity, and they look too confounded wholesome, and they are proliferating, and there is no end to them."

* * *

"You mentioned Cuba. What would you do about Cuba?"

He ignored the question. He often ignores questions. He said: "And now Rockefeller has ruined his chances. He should never have gotten married. The American people won't stand for it!"

"Won't stand for a married president?"

"Won't stand for a man who is married after a divorce, and likes modern art besides, and pretends to be less liberal than he is. I am outraged at him!"

"But what does a man's marital status have to do with how he would handle the Cuban situation, for instance, or the national economy?"

* * *

The angry man ignored the question. He said: "And Rockefeller takes his honeymoon in Venezuela! Why can't he go to Niagara Falls like everybody else? The American people are suspicious of foreign honeymoons."

"But . . ."

"And I'll tell you something else —Goldwater has ruined his confounded chances. He won't say he is running, and he doesn't sound like he isn't running. He won't stand up to making a decision. Goldwater is soft on the presidency, that's what he is. I am indignant at him. Furthermore, confound it, he keeps saying friendly things about Rockefeller. The American people don't trust a man who is friendly with other candidates!"

* * *

I tried to shift the conversation to a faraway topic: "What did you think of the Italian elections?"

"Governor Romney is a terrible disappointment," the angry man replied. "He should have known better than to be born a Mormon, and not even to be born in this country. What ever happened to foresight?"

"That wasn't the question. I asked you what you thought of the Italian elections?"

"I think it was outrageous for Nixon to announce he is moving from California to New York. A man should stay put! The American people won't stand for a man flitting all over the countryside trying to find a place to get elected. The very idea!"

* * *

"You are mad at everybody. You are denouncing people for things that are mostly irrelevant, and . . ."

"Don't try to apologize for them," he said. "As I've told you before, I've had plenty of experience spotting people who are ruining the country or would if they could. The last president who didn't ruin the country was Hoover, and he would have if that confounded Roosevelt hadn't come along and beat him. This country has been going to the dogs since Chester A. Arthur—I've always said that—and I read something the other night that leads me to believe even Arthur was involved in a foreign conspiracy.

* * *

"I don't believe I ever saw you so mad."

"Thank you," he said, and looked almost happy for an instant. Then he growled: "You've got to be emotional these days. You've got to be mad to see clearly!"

With that, he banged his fist on the counter so hard he spilled milkshake on himself, and we left him there, clear-eyed and furious.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Is Liz Taylor Broke?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Is Elizabeth Taylor broke? I pose the question because of the rumor in London that Liz had to unload part of her Cleopatra percentage for some cash in the hand. Liz does spend money as though there were no tomorrow—whatever she wants she buys regardless of price—as witness that recent more than $250,000 paid for a Van Gogh.

* * *

Joan Crawford's current escort is actor John Vivyan, the Mr. Lucky of TV.

* * *

As of today, only Rex Harrison will be attending the New York premiere of Cleo. Burton will be busy in Becket, and Liz will be doing her TV special in London.

* * *

Debbie Reynolds' baby will arrive later this year. And every married star is trying to emulate Mrs. Kennedy in this area. I remember when it was not chic to admit to having a child if you were a movie star. Norma Shearer for instance, never mentioned her kids during interviews. And didn't Phil Regan hide all six of his? And that sweet Carl Brisson pretended son Freddie was his brother.

* * *

Seven Arts are after Frank Sinatra for the film version of No Strings with Nancy Kwan. But I'll be surprised if they land him. He has a million pictures of his own to make. It's time some new stars were developed. These middle-aged Romeos can't go on forever.

Somerset Maugham's first choice to star in the remake of Of Human Bondage was Marilyn Monroe. And she would have been very good. Choice number two was Elizabeth Taylor. And she would have done it, if the present director had not told her—after she had agreed to play the part—that he was re-writing the script. "But I like the old script," said Liz who then cancelled out.

* * *

* * *

Pat Neals' writer husband Raoul Dahl, has given up writing, to invent a gadget that could save his son's life. The child was injured when just a few months old and the invention is to drain away water which periodically collects in the head. Another child was drowned a year ago. They have really had their share of anguish.

Up 338,000

Population of Canada Reaches 18,846,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's population at April 1 was 18,846,000 an increase of 338,000 in a year and of 608,000 since the June 1, 1961, census, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

In the first three months of this year the population growth was 79,000, the smallest quarterly increase in the last year.

At the present rate of growth, the bureau estimated, Canada's population should reach 19,000,000 by Oct. 1.

Ontario had the largest numerical increase in the last year—110,000 or 1.7 per cent. Quebec was next with 105,000 or 2 per cent and British Columbia third with 37,000 or 2.2 per cent.

Population by provinces at April 1 with June 1, 1961, census figures in brackets:

Newfoundland, 479,000 (458,000); Prince Edward Island, 107,000 (105,000); Nova Scotia 754,000 (747,000); New Brunswick, 613,000 (598,000); Quebec, 5,453,000 (5,259,000); Ontario, 6,431,000 (6,236,000); Manitoba, 948,000 (922,000); Saskatchewan, 932,000 (925,000); Alberta, 1,400,000 (1,332,000); British Columbia, 1,680,000 (1,629,000); Yukon, 15,000 (14,000); Northwest Territories, 24,000 (23,000).

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

A new cedar specialty for Beauty Long Life Economy

* * *

What is "FOREST" Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does "FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodellers.

How to finish "FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.

If you wish to preserve the natural rustic effect of "Forest" apply a coat of oil filler first then varnish or shellac. "Forest" siding also takes paint beautifully if you wish a colored finish.

YOU can easily apply "Forest" Cedar Siding

Many home owners have applied this modern, beautiful "Forest" siding themselves without the slightest difficulty.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Many bridge players have an excessive fondness for ducking plays. Far more contracts are made by unnecessary ducks than by failure to duck. A good rule for the average player is "When in doubt, don't." On this deal, both East and West ducked unnecessarily and allowed declarer to make a hopeless contract.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: Club three

South was slightly short of the normal strength required for the opening of two no trump, but he took into account his possession of three aces and a ten—assets in borderline cases. Most experts now reduce the requirements for two no trump slightly, especially if two clubs is being used as a conventional strong opening bid.

North was tempted to respond in the hope of discovering a major suit fit, but it is bad policy to look for miracles. If North bids and does not find a fit, his side would be more deeply in trouble.

Declarer played the club jack from dummy to the first trick, hoping that the lead was from ace-queen and that he would be able to lead from dummy. When the queen forced his king, he was in trouble.

Declarer concluded that he could not avoid the club losers and that it might help if West had to open up one of the other suits. So at trick two South led the club ten. To his astonishment, it held the trick, West assuming that declarer held the intermediate clubs. Declarer's next play was the diamond queen and now it was East who ducked, also incorrectly.

Skilful play now landed eight tricks. The heart ace was followed by the heart queen. West took the king and the defence cashed two club tricks. East led a spade and declarer put up the ace, dropping West's queen. A heart lead to dummy's ten and a spade continuation ensured declarer's eighth trick with the spade jack.

COUNTRY COTTAGE
BUBBLING WELL—
DOZING DOGWOODS—
SURE TO SELL ! !

There is also the most exquisite PATIO—with a pretty little pool, at the rear of the cottage, completely secluded, with access to the living room through French Doors. This home is located WEST SAANICH RD. way, and has a charming country atmosphere. It is exceedingly well cared for, and in lovely condition. A bright and sunny kitchen, large attractive living room with a fine fireplace, with a little dinette off. Two bedrooms, very sunny sunporch, and pretty little modern bathroom. Part basement with an oil furnace PLUS a champion wood and coal furnace (in case the power goes off! Which it quite frequently does—as we country dwellers well know.) Peace and quiet reign supreme here—but one is not isolated.

Players, Singers Featured

Two one-act plays along with a program of choral singing are on the bill this evening at 8:15 when the Peninsula Players present their spring production at the Sidney Elementary School.

The Players themselves are to be seen in Thornton Wilder's The Happy Journey, a play which is almost always presented with the tail cut off. Nevertheless, the head end provides delightful comedy and is presented somewhat in the manner of Chinese Theatre, i.e., with a very important and valuable property man.

Directed by Chuck Swannell the cast includes Florence Smith, Marg Donovan, Ruth Chudley, Larry Scardafield, Herb Drew.

Guest artists are the cast of the Old Vic Players' Birds of a Feather which was presented in the provincial drama festival in Victoria in February. It was then highlighted by an excellent performance by John Martin as the Bishop of mid-Wales.

The vocal portion of tonight's program will be supplied by the Sidney Choral Society directed by Frank Minns.

Clubs Back Ladysmith Group In Drive for Festival Funds

By BERT BINNY

Back in April the Ladysmith Little Theatre won the Central and Northern Island Drama Festival with their production of Gwenyth Jones' the Mayor of Torontal.

This earned them the right to compete in the Provincial Drama Festival finals at Penticton on May 29-June 2.

But tonight the play is to be presented at the Ladysmith Little Theatre in order to raise funds for the Interior trek.

However, the Ladysmith organization is not alone in this effort and it is pleasant to note they are being supported vigorously by two of those companies who competed against them at the April Festival, the Cowichan Lake and Duncan drama clubs.

The Mayor of Torontal is directed by Doreen Boulton and the cast includes Evelyn Smith as Madame Sloboda who won the award for the best actress in a supporting role and Watkin Mossman as Poprad who took the corresponding male award.

Linda Geernaert, who plays Miss Svidnik, received honorable mention at the recent festival.

Others in the cast are Norma Fraser, Barbara Little, Dianna Waddell, John Tooker, Bob Brophey and Jim McKinley. Stage manager is Jack Atkinson.

The Lake Cowichan Drama Club is presenting their Egad! What a Cad! by Anita Bell.

Yvette Friday as Ursula Greystone received honorable mention in the festival presentation. The play is directed by Alec Walker and includes in the cast Carol Wilson, Eva Lindenthaler, Eva Wilson, Hank von Rossum, Paul Kleven, and Brent Friday with Evelyn Nash stage managing.

The Duncan Little Theatre will offer The Stranger which they entered in the 1962 Provincial Drama Festival.

Curtain time is 8:15 at the Ladysmith Little Theatre.

'Doesn't Know Business'

Beekeeper Angry At Insect Expert

A Victoria beekeeper charged last night a provincial entomologist with the department of agriculture doesn't know his own business.

"If Mr. Neilson doesn't know about the bee losses due to insecticide in this area he doesn't know anything about the bee with the department's branch industry, and he isn't in touch with the department's branches," said Charles Warren, 1698 Lansdowne.

BECOMES ENRAGED

His enraged comment came after he learned of statements made Wednesday in an interview by Chester Neilson in Victoria.

Mr. Neilson was quoted as saying his office has not been advised of serious (bee) losses in this area.

"The beekeepers' representatives are our bee inspectors," said Mr. Warren. "The chief provincial apiarist is John Corner at Vernon, and they have untold trouble there.

"Only the other day I was phoned long distance from the New Westminster full-time bee inspector, Douglas Oldershaw, who told me he had lost heavily in his own bee population from spray."

Mr. Warren has lost 6,000,000 bees last year and 2,000,000 this year as what he terms a direct result of poison sprays.

Mr. Neilson was quoted as saying if any beekeeper is having a serious problem with bee poisoning through use of modern insecticides, "we'd like to know."

INSPECTORS ADVISED

Mr. Warren said beekeepers in the Okanagan have been troubled for years with serious losses from insecticides, and that provincial bee inspectors have been advised of this all along.

"Chief apiary inspector John Corner in Vernon is directly responsible to Agriculture Minister Frank Richter," Mr. Warren said.

Mike, JFK Tackle Lake Strife

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (CP) — Efforts to bring President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to a conference table discussion on Great Lakes labor disruption were announced Friday night by Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy.

Labor Minister MacEachen and U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz have been instructed to try to arrange the conference. The aim would be to end harassment of Canadian shipping in U.S. ports by U.S. allies of the rebel Seafarers' International Union of Canada.

The meeting, with date and site to be decided, would involve the two cabinet ministers as well as the labor heads.

DEFENCE PARLEY

The two leaders also gave this information to a press conference, summoned at the end of their first round of two-day talks:

1. U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara and Defence Production Minister Drury will meet shortly to discuss sharing of defence production.

2. Subjects covered at the talks included the prospects of disarmament and the abolition of nuclear tests.

TO ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

3. U.S.-Canadian defence matters will be covered in a communique expected to be issued today.

The two leaders also discussed greater utilization of existing facilities for communications between the two governments — specifically the Canada-U.S. committees on defence and economics plus the permanent joint board on defence. Pearson, who handled the press conference by agreement with the president, said this concept strives to make use of

JURY CITES WARDEN, GUARDS

MONTREAL (CP)—Michel LeCorre, warden of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, and two of the prison's guards were found criminally negligent Friday night in the death of a guard taken hostage by two prisoners.

The verdict was rendered by a coroner's court jury under Coroner Marcel Trahan.

A legal authority said he understood the jury's findings would be sent to the justice department in Ottawa.

Guard Raymond Tellier, 35, died May 2 after Warden LeCorre ordered three guards armed with pistols to storm a cell where Tellier was held by the two convicts.

COUSIN WOUNDED

One prisoner, Marcel Marcoux, was also killed and the other, his cousin Claude Marcoux, was wounded.

The jury also found both prisoners criminally negligent.

Dr. Jean-Paul Valcourt, medico-legal expert, testified earlier ballistic tests showed the slain guard and prisoner were hit by gunshots' fired by Alphonse Desormeaux, 56, a guard at the penitentiary for 29 years.

Dr. Valcourt said autopsies showed Tellier was hit three times and Marcel Marcoux twice by bullets fired from Desormeaux' .38-calibre revolver.

Desormeaux and Aurele Martel, 39, were the guards implicated. Evidence showed Martel also fired a number of shots. The third guard, Gilles Lecompte, 23, said he did not fire because "I couldn't see clearly inside the cell."

WANTED TRANSFER

The Marcoux had taken Tellier prisoner to back up demands for a transfer to Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba.

Warden Lecorre told reporters earlier this week he ordered the guards to invade the cell because it "was the only thing we could do because they had already stabbed the guard several times and he was in great pain."

MEDICAL OPINION

The autopsy showed Tellier had been stabbed three times and there was medical opinion that he would have died from one of the stab wounds in a short time.

Evidence at the inquest showed the prisoners were armed with knives and had bound Tellier hand and foot when the warden arrived to negotiate for the guard's release. Guard Jean - Jacques Gratton said the warden told them it was impossible for them to be transferred. He said no action would be taken if they withdrew their request and released Tellier.

UNLESS GRANTED

They refused and said all three would "die in the cell" unless the transfer was granted. They gave Mr. LeCorre 10 minutes to think it over.

The warden asked for 15 minutes and then left. He conferred with other officials and

Jagan Sees Plot

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan charged Friday night a plot was in the making to overthrow his government by force.

He said he would take every step necessary to thwart it.

* * *

Jagan spoke at a riotous session of the Legislative Assembly of this strike-bound South American colony as a British frigate stood by in Georgetown harbor to back up his proclamation of a state of emergency.

Jeers and catcalls interrupted Jagan's speech. At one point Opposition leader Forbes Burnham called Jagan a coward and Speaker Rahman Gajraj threatened to adjourn the session.

* * *

Jagan cast suspicion for the alleged plot on Burnham's People's National Congress and deputies of Jagan's People's Progressive Party joined in with shouts of "treason."

Jagan read from what he said were documents seized in a raid last Saturday on the Burnham party's headquarters.

Jodoin Agreeable

CLAUDE JODOIN
. . . willing to attend

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Friday he has agreed to meet with George Meaney of the AFL-CIO to discuss the Great Lakes labor dispute.

He said he received a communication from Labor Minister MacEachen asking if he is willing to attend such a conference and he agreed.

He said date and site of the conference has not yet been decided.

Mr. Jodoin, who came here this week to attend a meeting of the central committee of the Red Cross, said it may be necessary for him to cancel planned attendance at a union convention in Los Angeles next week.

He had planned to leave here Sunday.

Negroes Claim Victory In Alabama Peace Pact

BIRMINGHAM, Ala (AP)—A bi-racial citizens' committee has agreed on proposals to end Birmingham's segregation conflict, but the city council isn't bound to accept it.

Negro integration forces had kept the city virtually under siege since April 3.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader of the desegregation campaign, said the agreement reached Friday provides the following:

1. Desegregation of lunch counters, rest rooms and drinking fountains in planned stages within the next 90 days.

HIRING INCLUDED

2. The upgrading and hiring of Negroes on a non-discriminatory basis. This will include the hiring of Negroes as clerks and salesmen within the next 60 days.

3. Arrangements for the release of all persons arrested during racial demonstrations on bond or on their personal recognizance.

4. Communications between Negroes and white persons will be publicly re-established within the next two weeks.

"We would hope that this channel will prevent the necessity of further protest demonstrations," King said.

But the agreement has no official status. In fact, the Negro desegregation leaders have no city officials with whom they would deal effectively. Birmingham has two governments—an outgoing city commission and a newly-elected mayor-council.

The two groups are engaged in a legal battle over when the mayor-council takes office. The issue will be argued before the state Supreme Court Thursday.

The four points outlined in the agreement are virtually the goals announced by King when he opened the desegregation drive. The only point not completely won was the matter of charges against the demonstrators.

THROUGH STATE

Earlier Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss., told reporters that the Negro "victory" in Birmingham calls for an immediate desegregation campaign throughout the state.

"Even though we have won a marginal victory the state of Alabama is our next target. We can still have at any moment 15,000 persons ready to go to jail simultaneously throughout the state."

MORE READY

Mississippi is the most segregated U.S. state, Mr. Bevel said, "but Alabama is next and they are more ready to be desegregated."

King called the agreement a "great victory . . . that cannot possibly be confined to the limited area of one race." He praised the white members of the bi - racial committee as "men of good will" and called on the Negro community in Birmingham to accept the agreement calmly, with dignity and wise restraint.

GOOD REASON

Despite reports to the contrary, King said there is good reason to believe that none of the children who stayed away from school to join the movement would be expelled.

Meanwhile, the city jail was fast being emptied of the Negroes arrested during the demonstrations.

Minister Injured

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro minister was injured and several others suffered minor hurts Friday in an outbreak of violence during the third day of racial demonstrations here.

Memo to JFK: Don't Drop It

HYANNIS PORT (UPI)—Talks between Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy carried at least one echo of Canada's recent election campaign—the charge that a memorandum lost by Kennedy in Ottawa in 1961 had contained a slur against former prime minister John Diefenbaker.

Pearson and Kennedy, at a reception for newsmen, decided to report on their discussions for the day. A memo had been prepared and Pearson had asked an aide: "Where is that sheet of paper?"

"Do you mean the one the president dropped on the floor?" a bystander quipped amid loud laughter among those in the room, including Pearson and Kennedy.

Ban on U.S. Flights Likely in Europe

LONDON (UPI)—A British aviation ministry spokesman said last night that if U.S. air lines keep their present trans-Atlantic rates they will be banned from British airports after midnight Sunday.

* * *

At least some other European countries indicated they would follow Britain's retaliation against the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board's refusal to approve the 5 per cent boost in trans-Atlantic round trip fares U.S. carriers agreed to last fall.

Under the agreement, round-trip economy fares increased from $486 to $510.

SIDE WITH BRITAIN

Reliable sources in Paris said France was likely to go along with Britain in forbidding the U.S. carriers — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines — from landing on French territory.

A source close to the French government said there was "practically no chance" of France's going against the other European countries involved, and said the Scandinavian countries took the same view.

Danish Airport officials said they had not heard of any proposed ban.

WILL NOT BACK UP

A Swissair spokesman in Zurich said Friday all 12 European airlines involved in the rate agreement will not go back on their decision even in the face of reported U.S. threats to void their landing rights in the United States.

The CAB, however, is legally unable to refuse landing permission to foreign carriers on the basis of a rate dispute, CAB chairman Alan Boyd said here last month.

The lack of CAB authority over foreign rates may be rectified by legislation, Boyd said.

Ottawa Warning

OTTAWA (CP)—The Air Transport Board has told eight international airlines flying into Canada that they will not be allowed to raise their trans-Atlantic round-trip fares Sunday as planned.

An Ottawa source said that if the foreign airlines charge the higher fares they will be placing in jeopardy their licences to operate in Canada.

Junta in Exile Cubans' Plan

MIAMI (AP) — A new drive to unify Cuban refugees into a single, powerful organization to topple the Fidel Castro regime was disclosed Friday by exile sources.

Plan calls for formation of a junta in exile to mount a three-pronged thrust consisting of sabotage, infiltration and ultimate invasion.

Society Slowed By Snow

OTTAWA (CP)—The capital city's biggest society blowout of the spring season got off to a late start Friday night because six husky dogs couldn't mush their way through an unseasonal blizzard.

The Ottawa Philharmonic Society's springtime party drew a capacity audience to the Lansdowne Park Coliseum. The theme was Robert Service's Cremation of Sam McGee.

About four inches of wet snow fell late in the day, creating a traffic jam in the park and causing a kennel keeper from nearby Stittsville, Ont., to be late with his six dogs in a truck. They were essential to the opening number and finale of the pageant.

Star of the show was television personality Pierre Berton who read Service's poem, while about 40—including diplomats and politicians — enacted the story.

For the Ottawa audience, the story line was adapted to be a parody on the change of government last week.

Castro Seeks Talks With JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has indicated a desire to talk with President Kennedy.

In a television interview filmed last month in Havana and shown here Friday night, Castro said the recent U.S.-Cuban prisoner swap could be a beginning point for discussions.

He also showed a willingness to discuss compensation for the expropriation of U.S. property in Cuba.

School Closed Rest of Term

BROSSARDVILLE, Que. (CP)—A little red schoolhouse, struck three times in two weeks by an unexplained malady that left pupils drugged and nauseous, was shut down Friday for the remainder of the school term.

"We've tried everything in way of tests," said Police Chief Albert Richard, "but we still don't know what affected the children." He said the unaccountable repetition of the ailment has convinced him there is criminal action behind it.

"SABOTAGE"

"I am sure we have a sabotage affair on our hands," he said. He didn't elaborate.

Health Minister Alphonse Couturier said Friday in the Quebec legislature that pupils, prompted by parents unhappy over the transfer to the 52-pupil school of French-Protestant immigrant children, were bringing smelly objects to class.

MICROBE TO BLAME

Exhaustive tests, and inch-by-inch searches of the one-storey, red-brick school in this suburb of Montreal have uncovered nothing to explain what is happening. Three doctors came to the conclusion that "some microbe might have been the culprit."

Officials of nearby St. Lambert Hospital, said the stricken children seemed drugged to the point where they could have undergone surgery without pain.

Hand Sewn On

NEW YORK (AP)—Physicians at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital reported Friday they had succeeded in sewing back the severed hand of a 19-year-old industrial worker injured a month ago.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

ANY TIME NOW: With Calgary apparently out of the Western Hockey League and Edmonton almost certainly having to follow suit we can reasonably expect that the subject of another Victoria franchise will be brought up at any hour. It could happen, but don't cancel that winter holiday in the expectation that we will have professional hockey next season, or in any season in the forseeable future.

According to reports, the matter of another WHL franchise for Victoria has again, and recently been tentatively explored, and, it appears, rejected for a reason which will become obvious. An informant says that Jack Morgan, manager of Memorial Arena, has already sounded out the possibility of having the Spokane franchise shifted here. He was told the club was not interested in coming on any low rental deal but would sell the franchise for $150,000. That's the conciousness of it. There just can't be anyone willing to risk that kind of money on professional hockey here, even if he, or they, could get a franchise.

That in itself is most unlikely. Although league and club officials will offer platitudes about Calgary's withdrawal, almost all will be hoping that Edmonton won't be foolish enough to try and make it go without its Alberta neighbor. The fact is that a situation long desired by most other WHL clubs has come about a season or two sooner than had been hoped.

Without the two Prairie clubs, the WHL is down to a more-workable and less-expensive club setup, and it's not about to go to seven. Spokane, because of transportation difficulties, remains a bit of a problem and the Inland Empire will eventually lose its hockey club. But when it does, it will be transplanted elsewhere, probably in San Diego. With a league composed of such large population centres as San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, the WHL will have cleared the first big hurdle towards its goal of eventual major league status. In this, a dream not too far from becoming reality, Victoria can have no place.

BIG LEAGUE SHOW: There is no need to congratulate Archie McKinnon for that big testimonial dinner on Wednesday night. It was no more than he deserved, and his congratulations are for meriting it. However, despite all that has been written about the affair one would be remiss in not making some comment about what was one of this area's finer moments.

A testimonial dinner to mark Archie's 50th anniversary of association with the Victoria YMCA was a natural, and it was understandable that the Victoria Gyro Club would instigate the move to honor a member of which it is understandably proud, but the Gyro Club and all others who contributed in some way by suggestion or in organization can feel honestly proud of the manner in which it was handled.

From the thoughtfully intelligent selection of the head table right through Archie's ordeal (?) of shaking hands with each of the 400 people there, it was a big league show. Even chairman Don Ross' insistence that there was someone named Moore seated near him added to the evening, providing the lighter moments needed on occasions like this, where there is sometimes a tendency to become maudlin as everyone endeavors to say the "right" things and not all believe. But there was no threat of mawkish sentimentality on Wednesday, for the man the area honored had left no need of it. It was a sincere tribute, and sincerely rendered.

BANTUS HAVE THE IDEA: Professional spectator sports are becoming far too dignified. They were meant to provide fun, and be fun, and quite a lot went out of them when they began getting too businesslike and shortened the word professional to profession. Paid publicists now strive to get what was mainly given, handing out reams of copy concerned far too much with statistics and not enough with the individual, and thereby taking even more color out of proceedings.

Making the most out of the more colorful and adept stars is a sure way to build interest, and it's the individual more often than not that is followed by fans. It's always been a shame to me that fellows like Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Arnold Palmer, Eddie Shack, Maury Wills and Jim Piersall are known by Willie, Mickey, Arnie, Eddie, Maury and Jim. Far better something in the line of Rocket Richard, Boom Boom Geoffrion, Champagne Tony Lema, Big Train Conacher, Country Slaugher, Shoeless Joe Jackson, Dizzy Dean, Big Daddy Lipscomb and those wonderfully nick-named pitching brother, Mudcat and Swampfire Grant.

But there's no such failing among the Bantus in South Africa a nation (tribe?) which is beginning to produce athletes of international calibre. Some of the best-known, locally at least, are boxers like Kangaroo Mauta and Axe-killer Ngidi, golfers like Bobby Locke Motati, Fiver Mazibuko and Shadrack Mdeni and soccer players like Kalamazoo Mokone, Excellent Mthembu, Mainline Khoza, Coulourbar Mokgoe and City Council Mbyana. Those fellows have just got to have fan clubs.

Football Star Dead at 31

Did Dope Kill Big Daddy?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, a fun-loving goliath of professional gridirons for a decade, died Friday of unknown causes after a night on the town in his new yellow Cadillac convertible.

"There is definite suspicion that narcotics are involved in the death," Dr. Rudiger Breintecker, assistant medical examiner, said after a preliminary autopsy.

He said there were at least three needle marks above veins on both elbows of the 31-year-old Negro athlete. A homemade syringe was found near his unconscious form in a west Baltimore apartment and will be chemically tested.

Dr. Breintecker said the results will not be known before next week and until the autopsy is completed the cause of death remains undetermined.

"We were unable to find any obvious cause of death," he said. Preliminary tests showed no traces of narcotics in the syringe found near the body but that examinations of various body organs would take longer, he said.

Dr. Russell S. Fischer, chief medical examiner, said, "the presumption is that this man is dead as a result of an overdose of narcotics, and by that we mean heroin, possible accidentally injected."

A night time travelling companion, in whose apartment Lipscomb was found on the kitchen floor, told police "there had been drinking going on" and they had been with a couple of girls in the early-morning hours.

The companion, Timothy Black, 25, was being held by police for investigation in connection with the death. He was reported to have taken a lie detector test.

Lipscomb—6-feet 6 and 288 pounds—played defensive tackle for Los Angeles Rams, Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football League.

Lipscomb was one of the few players to reach the top grade in professional football without going to college. He went into the Marines out of Miller High school in his native Detroit.

The Rams picked him off a Marine team at Camp Pendleton, Calif., in 1953. After two years as a reserve, they let him go and the Colts took him for $100.

Big Daddy was a regular on a defensive crew variously called the Savage Six and Six Tons of Fun who helped carry the Colts to successive championships in 1958-59. Lipscomb was voted all-pro both times.

He liked to describe his play with an old football story: "I just grab me an armful of men, pick 'em over until I find the one with the gall, then I throw him down."

Then, typical of his showmanship, he'd solicitously help the dazed ball carrier to his feet, brush him off and head him toward his huddle. The crowds loved it.

They couldn't help noticing him. In addition to his size, he was best at sweeping across the line and nailing a ball carrier on the opposite side and out in the open for all to see. Then he'd stay prone, while the fans groaned "Is he hurt?" before slowly climbing to his feet to wild applause.

Lipscomb took his acting ability on a professional wrestling tour in California in 1959 with Don Joyce, a former Colt defensive end.

The Colts unexpectedly traded Lipscomb to the Steelers on the first day of practice for the 1961

'It Just Can't Be' Laments His Pal

BALTIMORE (AP) — Disbelief, tears, shock and praise followed the word Friday that football player Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb died.

One who knew him best was Buddy Young, who tried to keep Lipscomb on the straight and narrow with Baltimore Colts.

"It just can't be, it just can't be," were Buddy's first words on being told of Lipscomb's death. Young broke into tears, according to John F. Steadman, sports editor of the Baltimore News-Post and former publicity director for the Colts.

"I knew all the good things about Big Daddy and his weakness, too," Young told Steadman.

DRANK GOOD WHISKY

"He drank good whisky," admitted Young. "I can't believe he ever took dope. I refuse to accept that.

"Maybe he got to drinking and then somebody gave him a narcotic. He would not wilfully do it. He had the pride of an athlete and the pride of a man."

Ed Kiely, assistant general manager of Pittsburgh Steelers, echoed "I won't believe he ever voluntarily took drugs."

Steadman wrote of Lipscomb: "He was born into poverty, mistreated as a child and banged around by bullies in early years. He had some mistrust for people, but those he knew he believed and often asked for advice.

"He was so immense, always so alive and so ready to have the good time that he felt his impoverished childhood denied him."

How Tenpin Lanes Are Born

In less than three weeks this will be a tenpin bowling lane ready for play. Laminated bowling surface is put together in upright position and then laid on foundation and levelled to American Bowling Congress standards. When lanes are down, pinsetters and other machinery and fixtures will be installed and the $1,000,000, 40-lane Mayfair alleys will be ready for business. It should be on or about June 1.—(Robin Clarke)

Mets Win Five in Row

Pitchers Keep Big Bats Silenced

Hitters show signs of rebellion occasionally but this has been a pitchers' season in major league baseball, and never more so than in yesterday's full schedule of 10 games.

No less than 12 of the 20 starting pitchers, including four losers, finished what they started and five others didn't leave until the eighth inning, when needs dictated a pinch-hitter.

Curt Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched the seventh 1-0 shutout of the season. Juan Pizarro of the Chicago White Sox, Camilo Pascual of Minnesota Twins and Phil Regan of Detroit Tigers also blanked their opponents, making it 54 shutouts this season.

Dick Farrell of Houston Colts pitched the season's 12th two-hitter. Pizarro, Pascual, Regan and Wayne Lemaster all pitched three-hitters and when it was all toted up, the 10 losing teams managed but 11 runs and 18 hits yesterday.

Simmons, 5-0 with five complete games, nosed out Bob Friend of Pittsburgh Pirates when George Altman hit a ninth-inning home run. Pizarro didn't wait for help in his 2-0 blanking of Los Angeles Angels, providing his needed run with his first homer and then giving himself a little cushion with a run-scoring single.

Farrell had a perfect game going for six innings in his 4-1 conquest of the red-hot Chicago Cubs, lapsed as a single and triple gave the Cubs their run, then clamped down again. Rusty Staub, 18-year-old rookie, hit three singles and drove in two runs for the Colts.

Plenty of other things happened, too. New York Mets set a new club record with a fifth straight win, beating Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, when Jim Hickman hit an eighth-inning home run; New York Yankees had their record for the season balanced when they took a 6-3 beating from Baltimore Orioles; Don Drysdale won his first game in almost a month as Los Angeles Dodgers took San Francisco Giants, 2-1, and Dick McAuliffe hit a grand-slam homer and batted in six runs as the Tigers walloped Cleveland Indians, 14-0, in the only game that got out of hand.

When it was all over, the White Sox still led the American League with a one-game edge over the Orioles and the Cardinals were back in second place in the National League, one game behind the Giants, but there had been a tightening up, particularly in the National League, in pennant races which so far have failed to establish a club which deserves solid rating as a world series choice.

McLarens Open Softball Season

McLaren's Construction, who have taken over for Victoria Merchants, will open play in the Heywood Avenue men's softball league with a game against Esso Imperials at 2:30 Sunday.

The league will go with three clubs this season, Gorge Hotel and Navy abstaining. The third club, Sooke, will start play with a game against McLarens on Tuesday evening. Each club will play twice weekly with a 38-game schedule lasting until August 18 being played out on Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The three remaining clubs have all strengthened by picking up players from Gorge Hotel. Sooke has added Don Lyon to a pitching staff which also includes newcomer Dave Norman. Larry Jay and Glen Bullen; Imperials have acquired Barry Jackson to go with Glen Langsett and Gordie Houston on a powerful looking staff and McLarens have added pitcher Jeff Hett to go with Ken Oliphant and Rod Turner.

Calls It Day

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Glover turned down a contract Wednesday to continue as playing coach of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. He indicated he intends to retire as a player.

Glover, 35, with the Barons for 10 years and playing coach last season, is the leading scorer in AHL history.

UBC May Quit Conference

WINNIPEG (CP)—The University of British Columbia Friday served notice to the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union that it may withdraw from the organization after the 1963 season.

The suggestion was given as an alternative to a UBC request for a shortened season in football and basketball because of the financial burden of playing a double round-robin season in these sports.

The UBC request at the union's annual meeting here, asked that only a single round-robin season be played in these sports.

The other members of the organization turned down the suggestion and allowed UBC 30 days to either accept the full schedule or make firm their alternative.

The WCIAU is composed of the universities of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and representatives from the other universities agreed that each take full part in the union's activities or no part.

Last season was the first after a four-year withdrawal for Manitoba.

They withdrew in 1958, when they found the burden of financing football teams in the conference too great.

Bus Phillips, UBC athletic director, said in an interview that the university supports 15 sports not incorporated in the WCIAU schedules and it was found that basketball and football were draining too great an amount of money from these and the other sports activities of the university.

Memorial Cup Continues

Niagara Falls Stays

EDMONTON—The cold light of dawn brought sanity back into the riotous Memorial Cup scene Friday.

Thursday night Niagara Falls defeated Edmonton Oil Kings, 5-2, in the fifth game of the Canadian junior hockey final.

Following the game, Niagara Falls Hap Emms threatened to withdraw his team from the series (they trail 3-2), charging the Edmonton team with unnecessarily brutal play. He also took a run at CAHA president Art Potter and everybody else in sight.

Two of the Niagara Falls players have broken legs. Others have stitches in their heads, arms, legs and bruised ribs. Also, their feelings are hurt because the Edmonton press has been unkind, to put it mildly.

At one point in Thursday's game, a carton of sugar cubes (at today's prices?) and a box of plastic spoons were dumped from the visiting press members' box onto the Oil King coach 50 feet below.

The Edmonton Gardens' management threatened to bar the easterners from the box for tonight's sixth game.

But Friday, things were different. Emms and his players decided to continue with the series.

The person who did the dumping of sugar and spoons (unidentified) stepped forward and it was found that he wasn't an eastern press representative after all. He's been barred from the rink tonight.

If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played here Monday.

Defenceman Tops

OTTAWA (CP)—Defenceman Harry Sinden of Kingston Frontenacs has been named the most valuable player of the 1962-63 season in the Eastern Professional Hockey League. He scored 66 points during the season, the most ever amassed by a defenceman in the EPHL.

University Boys Win

University School outscored Esquimalt High School, 43-36, in a dual track and field meet held at University School grounds.

Porter Condon and Robin McKenzie of University School and Ken Blunt of Esquimalt turned in the outstanding individual performances. Condon won the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet, three inches; McKenzie covered 41 feet, 10¾ inches in the hop, step and jump, and Blunt was timed in 2:8:8 minutes for the half mile.

College Ball Gets Boost

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has announced a major league grant of $50,000 that would set up in the midwest a pilot league for college players from 13 states as a stepping stone to the majors.

To be known as the Central Illinois Collegiate League, it could be the forerunner of similar organizations throughout the United States.

Three Nanaimo Air Cadets Win Outstanding Awards

NANAIMO—Outstanding awards have been won by three Nanaimo air cadets. The B.C. committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada announced Friday that WO A. Paul Phipps, Flt. Sgt. Brian Haynes and Cpl. P. E. Kalmin, all of local 205 Squadron, will receive the awards. WO Phipps will travel to the United Kingdom under an exchange program.

The air cadets are among 500 of Canada's 27,000 air cadets to receive the special awards. They are selected on the basis of outstanding records and have passed through joint league and RCAF selection boards at the local, provincial and national levels.

Two Hurt In Car Accident

DUNCAN — A car accident sent two Duncan men, Graham White and Michael Evans, to the King's Daughters Hospital where they are reported to be in fair condition.

The two-car collision in which the two men were injured happened at a small curve at Maple Bay near the yacht club.

The car driven by Mr. White was proceeding south when it collided with a car driven by Mrs. Annabelle Grice of Maple Bay. Mr. Evans was a passenger in the White car. Mrs. Grice suffered two broken teeth and bruises.

SECOND ACCIDENT

A second accident occurred when Maple Bay man John Hutton lost control over his vehicle which plunged down a 20-foot embankment on Maple Bay Road.

Mr. Hutton escaped with cuts and bruises.

No one was injured in the third traffic accident, a three-car collision on Bill McKinnon Road, involving drivers Robert Brehmer of Chemainus, Arthur Court of Duncan and Kelvin Rasmussen of Victoria.

Baby Girl Flown To Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—A baby girl flown here from Nanaimo Thursday suffering from second degree burns was in good condition in hospital Friday.

Linda Harrison, 22 months, of Qualicum Beach suffered hot water burns to her right side and right leg two weeks ago.

Complications developed Wednesday, and she received emergency treatment at Nanaimo hospital before being flown here.

Plasma bottles were hung from the cabin roof of the plane to permit treatment during the flight.

Five Cadet Corps Take Part In Church Parade on Sunday

Five Greater Victoria cadet corps will participate in the opening of the seventh annual Tri-Service Cadet Week on Sunday with a church parade to the sports field of Victoria High School.

The corps will fall in at Herald and Douglas Streets and follow a route along Douglas, Yates, Quadra, Pandora, Camosun and Grant, ending at the high school.

Brig. E. D. Danby, of Vancouver, officer commanding the B.C. area, will take the salute at a march past prior to the drumhead service on the field.

CORPS TAKE PART

Corps participating will be the Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadets, PPCLI Cadets, Canadian Scottish Cadets, RCEME Cadets and the 89th Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron.

Lunch will be served on the field at 1 p.m., followed by a track and field program, after which trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

Each cadet corps will carry out a sunset ceremony outside the legislative buildings in rotation during the week.

The week's activities will close with a United Cadet Services Ball, on May 18.

Navy Greets Public Today

Today is Navy Day.

Between 1:30 and 5 p.m. visitors will be welcome at HMC Dockyard, HMCS Naden and at the naval air station, Patricia Bay.

* * *

Ships from all major squadrons will be open to the public. The destroyer-escorts HMCS Margaree and Skeena will be berthed at "A" jetty in Dockyard. The frigates HMCS Beacon Hill and Jonquiere will be tied up at "B" jetty.

At "C" jetty, fleet maintenance vessel HMCS Cape Breton will also hold open house for visitors.

At HMCS Naden exhibits will be on display at the engineering division, weapons and trades theory section. Most of the school's classes and shops will be open for inspection.

* * *

Firefighting equipment will be on display at the Dockyard fire station. Special rescue demonstrations are to be staged at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Throughout the afternoon a fire tug in harbor will operate pumps and monitors.

The comedy float "Esquimalt Queen" will be on display immediately inside Dockyard main gate.

* * *

The RCN's mobile Explosive Education Program truck will be on display near the Dockyard fire station.

There will be continuous bus service between Naden and Dockyard with stops at the Maritime Museum.

Visitors will be welcomed in naval armament, electrical, plate and boiler, plastic, and diesel and machine shops in Dockyard.

* * *

Navy harbor craft will take tours of Esquimalt harbor. The tours will include Yarrows Ltd. shipyard; government graving dock; Seaward Defence jetty; fueling jetty, and will give participants a look at the upper reaches of the harbor and historic Fisgard lighthouse at the entrance to the harbor.

At Patricia Bay a variety of aircraft, both flying and on the ground, will be on display, including the HUP-3 helicopter and the T-33 high-speed jet target-towing plane.

* * *

A fire-rescue and flying demonstration will be given. There will be a series of movies and a firefighting display.

For the kiddies there will be a novelty "mule" and trailer ride. Ice cream and light refreshments will be available at a mobile canteen.

At Jingle Pot Road

Parents May Build Their Own Overpass

NANAIMO—The never-say-die parents of children attending Mount Benson School may build their own overpass at the intersection of Jingle Pot Road and the Island Highway.

The parents have been prodding the provincial government by letter, delegation and demonstration to either build an overpass or an underpass at the intersection to protect their children.

PROBE COST

Thursday night the Mount Benson Parent-Teacher Association authorized the local safety committee to investigate the cost of constructing an overpass with a view to building one at the expense of local residents.

Early this year, a six-year-old boy was killed at the intersection. The mothers, mostly from Wellington, have approached MLA Dan Campbell repeatedly about an overpass and were told a plan is on the drawing board.

Not satisfied, the mothers took to carrying large placards and personally escorting their youngsters over the crossing.

ONLY ALTERNATIVE

The latest move was described by PTA chairman Frank Murphy as the only alternative.

"We either wait, try to force the government's hand or build one ourselves," he said.

Mr. Murphy said he didn't know how the money would be raised. He suggested it might be done as a local improvement through taxation or by a fund-raising drive.

OFFICIAL RAPPED

Mothers at the meeting also criticized the highways official at the crossing, saying he sits in his car and only operates the signal when a large group of children have gathered.

Highways Minister Gaglardi, Comox MLA Dan Campbell and Nanaimo highways superintendent J. W. Morris were invited to the PTA meeting but did not attend.

Port Alberni

Defeat of Bylaw Means Tax Boost

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran Jordon said it will be necessary to increase the mill rate to pay for the construction deficit from this year's general revenue, following the defeat of the $198,000 arena improvement and equipment bylaw in a plebiscite Thursday by 54 votes.

With a 60 per cent majority required, there were 695 votes for the bylaw, and 535 against, with 11 spoiled ballots.

The approval of the owner-electors was sought by council to permit the raising of funds to pay off a $131,000 deficit on construction of the curling rink ice arena, and to add shower rooms, change rooms, a permanent floor, seating and an equipment room in the arena, as well as paving of parking areas at the building.

The mayor said an additional six mills to make up the deficit, and a three-mill increase for school purposes will mean a mill rate of 49 for property owners in Port Alberni.

"It is most unfortunate this should happen," he said, "but it is apparent the people do not want the arena to be completed."

Only about 28½ per cent of the owner electors eligible to vote on the issue turned out to the polls.

Visit to Skating Pals Brings Follies Job

A Victoria girl who will start out on the professional ice skating circuit this summer, will never get a chance to perform for her home-town audience.

Janet Stenstrom, 20, of 2460 Cardigan, took a trip to Seattle last weekend to visit friends who were there performing in the Ice Follies, and ended up landing a job in the show.

* * *

Born in Victoria, Janet attended Oak Bay High School and has been skating for 12 years. She taught professionally in Quesnel and Williams Lake last year.

Now she faces a rigid routine of skating and travelling which will take her to the far corners of the United States and to Montreal and Toronto, but never to Victoria.

* * *

Janet went to Seattle to visit two girl friends, Berna Pedneault and Susan Dillibough, also from Victoria, who then talked her into auditioning for the show.

She was accepted, and reports to the San Francisco training camp June 18 for a three-month stint of practice and learning new routines.

Then she will take part in the show's grand opening in Los Angeles on Sept. 1.

* * *

Besides her love of skating, Janet is looking forward to the travel opportunities her new job affords.

"We'll be visiting most major cities in the United States," she said. "They give us a day off to see each town before we open, so I'll get a pretty good idea of what the country looks like.

* * *

"We'll travel by train and spend a week and a half to two weeks in each city. Besides a month's holiday in the spring, we get a week off at Christmas, so I'll have a few chances to visit my folks while I'm travelling," she said.

"I've always enjoyed skating," she said, "but it's really the excitement of the whole thing I'm looking forward to now."

Explosions Next Week North of Island

Vancouver Island will rock ever so slightly 23 times next week as federal scientists set off deep-water explosions off the north shore of the Island.

The tremors will be too slight to be felt by a person standing on the shore nearest the explosions, in 100 fathoms of water, but participating scientists hope they will be recorded by seismographs located at Rock Bay near Seymour Narrows, Alberni, Courtenay, Nanoose Bay, Ladysmith and in the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain.

* * *

The survey, to investigate the nature of the earth's crust around Vancouver Island, is under the direction of Dr. W. R. H. White of the observatory staff.

For each explosion 10 obsolete depth charges, equal to 3,000 pounds of high explosive, will be dropped to the ocean floor and exploded electrically from a launch overhead.

* * *

Purpose of exploding the charge in deep water is to concentrate as much of the force on the earth as possible. The weight of 100 fathoms of water above the explosion does this.

Extremely precise electronic "clocks" will be used by scientists aboard the launch and at each seismograph station.

CNAV Laymore, an RCN auxiliary ship, has been made available for the operation.

* * *

First six explosions will be set off Monday, another six Tuesday and Wednesday and five more on Thursday.

A warning to mariners to stay away from the specific areas has been issued by the department of transport.

Emergency Meeting Called About Gosley

An emergency meeting of the Victoria Theatre Guild will be held this month to discuss the action of the board of directors which resulted in the Jerry Gosley Smile Show not using the guild's theatre, and the expulsion of a guild member.

A petition requesting the meeting has been signed by 20 members, Richard Litt, 2366 Zela, said last night. It was organized by Mr. Litt and Charles Morriss, 1930 Crescent.

SEVERAL YEARS

Mr. Gosley's Smile Show has been held in the Langham Court Theatre for several years. Following a decision of the board to renegotiate the contract, Mr. Gosley announced he would stage the show elsewhere.

A long-time member and former director, Mrs. Vera Trueman, 987 Island Road, was recently expelled by the board of directors after she publicly criticized the board.

SAME CONDITIONS

Gerald Guest, president of the guild, announced Thursday another British-style entertainer, Arthur Budd, has accepted rental of the theatre under the conditions offered to Mr. Gosley.

The petition asked the board for a statement of the reasons for non-appearance of Mr. Gosley's show and for Mrs. Trueman's expulsion.

"I have no doubt that when the meeting is held it will be resolved to the satisfaction of all," Mr. Litt said.

New Pulp Mill Union Wins Fight for Funds

CROFTON—In an attempt to shed last links with the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, Local 2 of the new Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada Union gained another victory.

Recently the international union withdrew all its claims to a welfare fund of $6,000 which had been frozen after the Crofton pulp mill workers broke away from the international union several weeks ago.

The fund of the Crofton welfare Society had been formed by the Crofton workers and was entirely administered by them. Local 2 president Bill Cox said the international union did not have any legal right to the money in the first place.

Meanwhile Mr. Cox, three officers of the Crofton local—Gordon Carlson, Arthur Morton, Dick Stanfield—and national secretary-treasurer Pat O'Brien met with two executive vice-presidents of the Canadian Labor Congress and set up an agenda for new contract negotiations.

SEEK CERTIFICATION

May 1 the Crofton group submitted to the labor relations board an application for certification. Legal acknowledgment of the local will enable the officers to sign the new contract. The present contract ends June 30.

Reflecting on the Crofton breakaway, Mr. Cox said his local has "blazed the trail for other pulp mills" whose workers are also dissatisfied with the international union.

Except for a minority of eight per cent, all of the 300 Crofton millworkers are members of the new national union.

WARDEN AND GUARDS CRITICIZED BY JURY

Verdict of Inquiry Into Prison Death

MONTREAL (CP)—Michel LeCorre, warden of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, and two of the prison's guards were found criminally negligent Friday night in the death of a guard taken hostage by two prisoners.

The verdict was rendered by a coroner's court jury under Coroner Marcel Trahan.

A legal authority said he understood the jury's findings would be sent to the justice department in Ottawa.

Guard Raymond Tellier, 35, died May 2 after Warden LeCorre ordered three guards armed with pistols to storm a cell where Tellier was held by the two convicts.

COUSIN WOUNDED

One prisoner, Marcel Marcoux, was also killed and the other, his cousin Claude Marcoux, was wounded.

The jury also found both prisoners criminally negligent.

Dr. Jean-Paul Valcourt, medico-legal expert, testified earlier ballistic tests showed the slain guard and prisoner were hit by gunshots fired by Alphonse Desormeaux, 56, a guard at the penitentiary for 29 years.

Dr. Valcourt said autopsies showed Tellier was hit three times and Marcel Marcoux twice by bullets fired from Desormeaux' .38-calibre revolver.

Desormeaux and Aurele Martel, 39, were the guards implicated. Evidence showed Martel also fired a number of shots. The third guard, Gilles Lecompte, 23, said he did not fire because "I couldn't see clearly inside the cell."

WANTED TRANSFER

The Marcoux had taken Tellier prisoner to back up demands for a transfer to Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba.

Warden LeCorre told reporters earlier this week he ordered the guards to invade the cell because it "was the only thing we could do because they had already stabbed the guard several times and he was in great pain."

MEDICAL OPINION

The autopsy showed Tellier had been stabbed three times and there was medical opinion that he would have died from one of the stab wounds in a short time.

Evidence at the inquest showed the prisoners were armed with knives and had bound Tellier hand and foot when the warden arrived to negotiate for the guard's release. Guard Jean - Jacques Gratton said the warden told them it was impossible for them to be transferred. He said no action would be taken if they withdrew their request and released Tellier.

UNLESS GRANTED

They refused and said all three would "die in the cell" unless the transfer was granted. They gave M. Le Corre 10 minutes to think it over.

The warden asked for 15 minutes and then left. He conferred with other officials and

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (CP) — Efforts to bring President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to a conference table discussion on Great Lakes labor disruption were announced Friday night by Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy.

Labor Minister MacEachen and U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz have been instructed to try to arrange the conference. The aim would be to end harassment of Canadian shipping in U.S. ports by U.S. allies of the rebel Seafarers' International Union of Canada.

The meeting, with date and site to be decided, would involve the two cabinet ministers as well as the labor heads.

DEFENCE PARLEY

The two leaders also gave this information to a press conference, summoned at the end of their first round of two-day talks:

1. U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara and Defence Production Minister Drury will meet shortly to discuss sharing of defence production.

2. Subjects covered at the talks included the prospects of disarmament and the abolition of nuclear tests.

TO ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

3. U.S.-Canadian defence matters will be covered in a communique expected to be issued today.

The two leaders also discussed greater utilization of existing facilities for communications between the two governments — specifically the Canada-U.S. committees on defence and economics plus the permanent joint board on defence. Pearson, who handled the press conference by agreement with the president, said this concept strives to make use of

New Pact On Fish?

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (CP)—Canada, the U.S. and Japan will hold talks in Washington next month to re-examine their north Pacific fisheries treaty.

Japan has indicated she wants the treaty re-opened for examination and Canada and the U.S. have agreed, President Kennedy's office here announced Friday night.

Jodoin Agreeable

CLAUDE JODOIN
. . . willing to attend

GEORGE MEANY
. . . AFL-CIO chief

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Friday he has agreed to meet with George Meany of the AFL-CIO to discuss the Great Lakes labor dispute.

He said he received a communication from Labor Minister MacEachen asking if he is willing to attend such a conference and he agreed.

He said date and site of the conference has not yet been decided.

Mr. Jodoin, who came here this week to attend a meeting of the central committee of the Red Cross, said it may be necessary for him to cancel planned attendance at a union convention in Los Angeles next week.

He had planned to leave here Sunday.

Not Binding on Birmingham

Negroes Claim Victory In Alabama Peace Pact

* * *

BIRMINGHAM, Ala (AP)—A bi-racial citizens' committee has agreed on proposals to end Birmingham's segregation conflict, but the city council isn't bound to accept it.

Negro integration forces had kept the city virtually under siege since April 3.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader of the desegregation campaign, said the agreement reached Friday provides the following:

1. Desegregation of lunch counters, rest rooms and drinking fountains in planned stages within the next 90 days.

HIRING INCLUDED

2. The upgrading and hiring of Negroes on a non-discriminatory basis. This will include the hiring of Negroes as clerks and salesmen within the next 60 days.

3. Arrangements for the release of all persons arrested during racial demonstrations on bond or on their personal recognizance.

4. Communications between Negroes and white persons will be publicly re-established within the next two weeks.

"We would hope that this channel will prevent the necessity of further protest demonstrations," King said.

But the agreement has no official status. In fact, the Negro desegregation leaders have no city officials with whom they would deal effectively. Birmingham has two governments—an outgoing city commission and a newly-elected mayor-council.

The two groups are engaged in a legal battle over when the mayor-council takes office. The issue will be argued before the state Supreme Court Thursday.

The four points outlined in the agreement are virtually the goals announced by King when he opened the desegregation drive. The only point not completely won was the matter of charges against the demonstrators.

THROUGH STATE

Earlier Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss., told reporters that the Negro "victory" in Birmingham calls for an immediate desegregation campaign throughout the state.

"Even though we have won a marginal victory the state of Alabama is our next target. We can still have at any moment 15,000 persons ready to go to jail simultaneously throughout the state."

MORE READY

Mississippi is the most segregated U.S. state, Mr. Bevel said, "but Alabama is next and they are more ready to be desegregated."

King called the agreement a "great victory . . . that cannot possibly be confined to the limited area of one race." He praised the white members of the bi - racial committee as "men of good will" and called on the Negro community in Birmingham to accept the agreement calmly, with dignity and wise restraint.

GOOD REASON

Despite reports to the contrary, King said there is good reason to believe that none of the children who stayed away from school to join the movement would be expelled.

Meanwhile, the city jail was fast being emptied of the Negroes arrested during the demonstrations.

Minister Injured

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro minister was injured and several others suffered minor hurts Friday in an outbreak of violence during the third day of racial demonstrations here.

Memo to JFK: Don't Drop It

HYANNIS PORT (UPI)—Talks between Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy carried at least one echo of Canada's recent election campaign—the charge that a memorandum lost by Kennedy in Ottawa in 1961 had contained a slur against former prime minister John Diefenbaker.

Pearson and Kennedy, at a reception for newsmen, decided to report on their discussions for the day. A memo had been prepared and Pearson had asked an aide: "Where is that sheet of paper?"

"Do you mean the one the president dropped on the floor?" a bystander quipped amid loud laughter among those in the room, including Pearson and Kennedy.

Ban on U.S. Flights Likely in Europe

LONDON (UPI)—A British aviation ministry spokesman said last night that if U.S. air lines keep their present trans-Atlantic rates they will be banned from British airports after midnight Sunday.

At least some other European countries indicated they would follow Britain's retaliation against the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board's refusal to approve the 5 per cent boost in trans-Atlantic round trip fares U.S. carriers agreed to last fall.

Under the agreement, round-trip economy fares increased from $486 to $510.

SIDE WITH BRITAIN

Reliable sources in Paris said France was likely to go along with Britain in forbidding the U.S. carriers — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines — from landing on French territory.

A source close to the French government said there was "practically no chance" of France's going against the other European countries involved, and said the Scandinavian countries took the same view.

Danish Airport officials said they had not heard of any proposed ban.

A Dutch government source said his country was preparing to withdraw landing rights to the U.S. carriers.

WILL NOT BACK UP

A Swissair spokesman in Zurich said Friday all 12 European airlines involved in the rate agreement will not go back on their decision even in the face of reported U.S. threats to void their landing rights in the United States.

The CAB, however, is legally unable to refuse landing permission to foreign carriers on the basis of a rate dispute, CAB chairman Alan Boyd said here last month.

The lack of CAB authority over foreign rates may be rectified by legislation, Boyd said.

Ottawa Warning

OTTAWA (CP)—The Air Transport Board has told eight international airlines flying into Canada that they will not be allowed to raise their trans-Atlantic round-trip fares Sunday as planned.

An Ottawa source said that if the foreign airlines charge the higher fares they will be placing in jeopardy their licences to operate in Canada.

Junta in Exile Cubans' Plan

MIAMI (AP) — A new drive to unify Cuban refugees into a single, powerful organization to topple the Fidel Castro regime was disclosed Friday by exile sources.

Plan calls for formation of a junta in exile to mount a three-pronged thrust consisting of sabotage, infiltration and ultimate invasion.

Society Slowed By Snow

OTTAWA (CP)—The capital city's biggest society blowout of the spring season got off to a late start Friday night because six husky dogs couldn't mush their way through an unseasonal blizzard.

The Ottawa Philharmonic Society's springtime party drew a capacity audience to the Lansdowne Park Coliseum. The theme was Robert Service's Cremation of Sam McGee.

About four inches of wet snow fell late in the day, creating a traffic jam in the park and causing a kennel keeper from nearby Stittsville, Ont., to be late with his six dogs in a truck. They were essential to the opening number and finale of the pageant.

Star of the show was television personality Pierre Berton who read Service's poem, while about 40 - including diplomats and politicians — enacted the story.

For the Ottawa audience, the story line was adapted to be a parody on the change of government last week.

Mystery Malady

School Closed Rest of Term

BROSSARDVILLE, Que. (CP)—A little red schoolhouse, struck three times in two weeks by an unexplained malady that left pupils drugged and nauseous, was shut down Friday for the remainder of the school term.

"We've tried everything in way of tests," said Police Chief Albert Richard, "but we still don't know what affected the children." He said the unaccountable repetition of the ailment has convinced him there is criminal action behind it.

"SABOTAGE"

"I am sure we have a sabotage affair on our hands," he said. He didn't elaborate.

Health Minister Alphonse Couturier said Friday in the Quebec legislature that pupils, prompted by parents unhappy over the transfer to the 52-pupil school of French-Protestant immigrant children, were bringing smelly objects to class.

MICROBE TO BLAME

Exhaustive tests, and inch-by-inch searches of the one-storey, red-brick school in this suburb of Montreal have uncovered nothing to explain what is happening. Three doctors came to the conclusion that "some microbe might have been the culprit."

Officials of nearby St. Lambert Hospital, said the stricken children seemed drugged to the point where they could have undergone surgery without pain.

Hand Sewn On

NEW YORK (AP)—Physicians at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital reported Friday they had succeeded in sewing back the severed hand of a 19-year-old industrial worker injured a month ago.

Jagan Sees Plot

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan charged Friday night a plot was in the making to overthrow his government by force.

He said he would take every step necessary to thwart it.

* * *

Jagan spoke at a riotous session of the Legislative Assembly of this strike-bound South American colony as a British frigate stood by in Georgetown harbor to back up his proclamation of a state of emergency.

Jeers and catcalls interrupted Jagan's speech. At one point Opposition leader Forbes Burnham called Jagan a coward and Speaker Rahman Gajraj threatened to adjourn the session.

* * *

Jagan cast suspicion for the alleged plot on Burnham's People's National Congress and deputies of Jagan's People's Progressive Party joined in with shouts of "treason."

Jagan read from what he said were documents seized in a raid last Saturday on the Burnham party's headquarters.

Castro Seeks Talks With JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has indicated a desire to talk with President Kennedy.

In a television interview filmed last month in Havana and shown here Friday night, Castro said the recent U.S.-Cuban prisoner swap could be a beginning point for discussions.

He also showed a willingness to discuss compensation for the expropriation of U.S. property in Cuba.
